B.C. Electric Lets Big Contract For Jordan River Power

Vancouver Construction Company Ltd. To Build Two Miles of Steel Penstock at Cost of $387,000, to Supply Water to New Generator; Will Be Completed in August; Bids Close To-day on New Generator.

Construction of a giant steel penstock at Jordan River, to supply water to the new generator, to be installed next year, was yesterday awarded to the Vancouver Engineering Works Limited by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited. The cost of the work will be $387,000, and Vice-president John L. Newell this morning informed The Times that the British Columbia Electric Railway Company had accepted a substantial price advance of 2 1/2 per cent, or about $10,000, to place the work with a British Columbia firm. Tenders had been received from firms in Great Britain, Europe, the United States and Eastern Canada.

The penstock, which is a pipe with a diameter of sixty inches, will have a length of nearly two miles and run between the balancing reservoir and the power house. A head of 1,100 feet will be provided at the generator. READY IN AUGUST

Ernest Redpath, sales manager of the Vancouver Construction Company Limited, this morning expressed pleasure that his firm had been awarded the contract. He explained that the concrete footings for the penstock will be provided by the Vancouver Island Power Company Limited, and the work will be finished and ready to deliver water to the new generator in August. Tenders for the new generator will close this afternoon. Superintendent G. M. Tripp stated this morning, bids for the water wheel closed last week and are now being analyzed.

CHINA AND SOVIET NEGOTIATING ISSUE

Geneva, Nov. 29.—Dr. Wu Kai-seng, permanent Chinese delegate to the League of Nations, to-night received a telegram from the Nationalist Government stating Nanking and Moscow had agreed to negotiate directly with each other in an effort to settle the Manchurian crisis.

The agreement to negotiate, Dr. Wu said, was without any provisional conditions affecting the present status.

The Chinese delegate expressed relief the negotiations already had been started, although the Nanking message did not state the time or the place.

The dispatch said the Mukden military Governor's preliminary negotiations with Russia had been made on the authority of Nanking.

RADIO ANNOUNCEMENT

Mukden, Nov. 29.—The Russian wireless station at Khabarovsk last night broadcast a statement saying conversations between Moscow and Mukden looking toward settlement of the Chinese Eastern Railway controversy still were proceeding, but that there would be "more war."

The radio announcer, commenting upon the Manchurian situation, said: "The Chinese-Manchurian army has suffered heavy losses, but Russia has not faith in Chang Hsueh-liang's word, as his forces are still fighting. Therefore, Russia must prepare for more war."

Gen. Chang Hsueh-liang is governor of Manchuria.

ATTITUDE OF JAPAN

AID IS SENT TO TWO SHIPS

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 29.—Two ships of the County Line were in distress off the Newfoundland coast to-day.

The Labele County was reported 300 miles southeast of St. John's with her funnel and bridge deck carried away and drifting helplessly. She was believed to be attempting to reach Halifax. The Labele County, 3,245 tons, was bound from Antwerp to Montreal.

The Grey County, a ship of 3,189 tons on the same route, was reported off Cape Race with her rudder broken, asking for assistance. It was understood the Government steamer Meigs would proceed to her aid.

Police Measures in Vancouver to Keep Down Crime While Street Lights Out

Lumber Company Closes in Response to Power Conservation Appeal

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—"Ten ex-soldiers" have been sworn in as emergency members of the police force for patrol duty while street lighting of Vancouver is cut down during the power shortage. Chief Bingham announced to-day.

The chief has been authorized to take on additional patrolmen up to the number of twenty-five, as conditions warrant.

"I hoped to be able to get by with these ten," the chief said, "but if the fog keeps up as well, I am afraid I shall be forced to add still more."

"It is understood these men are engaged by the day and that they will be released as soon as the situation improves," Mayor Malkin said.

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—With meteorological service officials predicting continued fair and cold weather for several days, there appears to be little possibility of early relief in the electric power shortage in this district, caused by the fall in the levels of the lakes and streams operating the hydro plants.

Twenty street cars have been removed from service in Vancouver and the city's record of 420 hours of running at half speed in the non-rush hours, and unless there is some relief soon it is likely more drastic steps will have to be taken.

EXPLOSION IN MINE IN WALES KILLS SEVEN

Other Coal Workers Able to Escape After Accident in Pit

Swansea, Wales, Nov. 29 (Canadian Press Cable).—Seven men lost their lives as a result of an explosion at Wernwyl, a small mine midway between the villages of Penclaw and Three Crosses, near here. The blast occurred last night and most of the forty miners in the pit at the time were able to rush to safety. The seven, however, were entombed by heavy falls from the roof.

Within a few minutes a rescue party, headed by Mine Manager Phillips, were fighting their way back into the workings. The rescuers hurriedly brought out the injured and then began a frantic attack on the masses of debris in an attempt to reach the buried men.

Phillips himself was badly gassed, but stuck bravely to his task until all hope of rescue was gone.

Pathetic groups of relatives flocked about the pithead with gradually receding hopes, until at 1 o'clock this morning it was ascertained all seven men had died.

Women's Plane In Air Forty-two Hours

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, Nov. 29.—Eclipsing their previous mark of eighteen hours and twenty-six minutes in the air, but falling far short of their announced intention of establishing a new world record for refueling endurance flights, Bobbie Trout, Los Angeles, and Eleanor Smith, New York, girl fliers, brought their Sunbeam biplane to earth at 3:40 a.m. to-day after forty-two hours and five minutes aloft.

The new mark, however, is in itself a record, as Miss Trout and Miss Smith are the first women fliers to attempt a refueling endurance performance. The official men's record of 420 hours twenty-one minutes and fifty-eight seconds is held by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien of St. Louis, Mo.

GASOLINE EXHAUSTED

Dry gasoline tanks forced the landing.

The fliers made a perfect landing and said they were feeling well after two days and nearly two nights in the air. Both expressed keen disappointment because of their inability to replenish their gasoline supply from the attending plane before dark last night.

"The breaks all have been against us," Miss Trout said, "and although we are disappointed, we are not discouraged. Our plane performed splendidly and we're both feeling fine. We most certainly expect to try again."

TO TRY TO-MORROW

Flight officials announced the mark of the endurance plane would be given an overhauling to-day, and that present plans are for the girls to take off Saturday for a third attempt to set a new record.

No Blame Found For Death of Man After Teeth Extracted

Toronto, Nov. 29.—A verdict exonerating the Royal Ontario Dental College of blame in connection with the death of William Thompson, thirty-eight, who died in a hospital here November 18 without having regained consciousness following extraction of several teeth, was delivered early to-day by the coroner's jury which investigated the circumstances surrounding the death.

The jury in its verdict found that "Thompson came to his death subsequently to having his teeth extracted under an anesthetic from causes which the medical evidence did not disclose conclusively. In view of the extraordinary nature of the case, no blame can be attached to anyone."

STUDENT HURT DURING FIRE IN COLLEGE HOUSE

Don Lauder Suffers Burns During Outbreak in Building in Seattle

Seattle, Nov. 29.—Ben Lauder, a senior from Vancouver, B.C., was badly burned about the face and head and ten other University of Washington students narrowly escaped injury in a fire which broke out this morning in the basement of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house. Lauder, formerly a cross-country distance runner, was burned when he ran down a stairway into the flames, which caused damage estimated at $1,500.

Nine members of the fraternity and two guests were sleeping on a porch and the blaze had gained considerable headway before it was discovered.

The interior of the house was virtually burned out and most of the personal property of the men was lost.

SOUTH ENGLAND RECEIVES HEAVY FALL OF RAIN

London, Nov. 29.—Storms which yesterday struck the English Channel to-day developed into a twenty-four-hour rainfall for all of south England. Many roads in South Wales, the Midlands and western and southern counties were flooded and made impassable. Some old-timers say it has been the wettest November ever known in this wet country.

Fog and gales caused the steamship Goleta to go ashore near Wexford, but its position was not dangerous and it was expected to float it with high tide.

FROM TORONTO FAIR

Cattle, sheep, horses and swine, many of them blue ribbon winners at other shows held earlier in the fall, will begin real competition Monday for the titles of international champions which are conferred by the exposition. A number of special stock trains arrived from Toronto yesterday, bringing animals which had competed in the Royal Winter Fair which closed there Wednesday.

Grain exhibits, too, were in place to-day with farmers from the western provinces of Canada and from the grain stock of the United States hoping the choice samples of their crops they had entered in the Hay and Grain Show, which is part of the exposition, would win for them one of the coveted titles of "wheat king," "oats king" or "corn king."

SHEEP CONTESTS

Canada, as usual, is particularly well represented in the sheep division this year. The Ontario herdsmen who have for many years made a habit of carrying off most of the sheep awards are back in force for the current exposition, and the lion's share of the ribbons in the division have already been conceded to them.

The cattle and horse divisions likewise have drawn sizeable Canadian entries.

THREE HURT IN CRASH ON SAANICH ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. F. Abbott of Ganges and Ernest Ball Now in Hospital

All Badly Cut and Bruised; Car Dropped Fourteen Feet and Turned Over

Injured when the taxi in which they were driving skidded from the East Saanich Road near Keating Cross Road and plunged down a fourteen-foot ravine at 9:15 o'clock this morning, Mr. and Mrs. F. Abbott of Ganges, Salt Spring Island, and Ernest Ball, driver for the Gray Line Tour Sightseeing and Taxi Company, were resting in the Jubilee Hospital this afternoon.

All were suffering from severe cuts, bruises and shock, but were reported to be in no great danger.

The car was proceeding along the East Saanich Road toward Sidney at a moderate speed, when it suddenly swerved from the slippery road, crashed down the embankment and turned over.

Passing motorists, assisted by John Wood, a nearby resident, rushed to the scene of the accident and aided Mrs. Abbott and Ball to free themselves from the wrecked car.

Mr. Abbott, pinned beneath the overturned machine, was unable to get clear of the wreckage until Chief Rankin of the Saanich Police arrived and aided the others to raise the chassis releasing Mr. Abbott.

The three injured persons were immediately rushed to the Jubilee Hospital. Mr. Abbott was badly cut on the top of his head and his back was injured. Dr. George Hall, who attended the patient, stated he was suffering from multiple bruises, cuts and severe shock as well as concussion. His condition was painful but not serious, the doctor stated.

Mr. Ball sustained severe bruises on his back and shoulder, while Mrs. Abbott was badly bruised and cut about the head and face.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott were proceeding to Sidney from Victoria to make connections for Salt Spring Island when the accident occurred. The "one-in-a-million" they were driving was badly wrecked.

Mrs. Abbott was attended by Dr. W. H. Moore and Mr. Ball, Dr. Ernest Hall.

New York, Nov. 29.—The New York Evening World to-day received a telegram from J. L. Fleming, vice-president in charge of the International Paper Company, quoting A. R. Graustein, the company's president, as denying reports that any solution of the newsprint price problem for next year had been reached.

"We do not know yet," the message added, "whether or not there will be an increase, or if so, what amount."

A Montreal dispatch yesterday said the International was ready to accede to the view of other companies for an increase. The suggested increase was from $55 to $60 a ton.

Georgian Firm Has New Home

The impending removal by Yardley & Company Limited, into their new Canadian home, shown above, marks a notable milestone in a remarkable commercial history. It is a history that dates back 100 years—was in 1870 Yardley & Company Limited was founded. To-day Yardley's is no longer solely an honored English name. It is known in practically every country on the earth.

The London establishment have been steadily complemented with warehouse and showroom accommodation in other countries and now, with the construction of the new Yardley building at Toronto, Yardley's are represented by distributing warehouses and showrooms in Paris, New York, Sydney and Toronto. There is also a Yardley factory just completed at Union City, N.J., from which the United States market is supplied, and showrooms at 452 Fifth Avenue, New York City, which are recognized as among the finest in the country.

In coming into the Canadian market and establishing a Toronto home for themselves, Yardley & Company have offered tangible proof of their faith in the future of Canada. Their business here has grown to such dimensions that it has justified the British directorate making this investment. It is not the intention of the company to actually manufacture in Canada but the premises will be used for the Canadian executive offices and warehousing. The actual products will be manufactured in the British plant at Stratford, London, England. Robert B. Yardley is still a member of the directorate. In the more than century and a half of growth many overtures have been made for the purchase of the Yardley business but the company has always declined amalgamation of any description.

Among the London, England directors are Thomas E. Gardner, managing director, Richard E. Gardner, A. H. C. Morgan and Mr. Pitt.

McGillivray Brothers Limited, Yardley's Canadian handling and selling agents, were responsible for Yardley & Company Limited coming to the Canadian market. They received the appointment in 1920 although they did not actually get under way until 1921. Thomas A. McGillivray is the vice-president and general manager of the

GYRO VOTE DRIVE WINS SUPPORT

Hearty support for the "Use-your-vote" campaign of the Victoria Gyro Club is being expressed in numerous letters to the officers in charge of the movement. It was stated to-day. The Gyro Club previously sponsored a "Get-a-vote" campaign, which resulted in many thousands of votes being cast previously unlisted. Now the club plans to draw attention to the benefits derived from a full representation by the electorate at the polls. Strong support is being manifest for the "Use-your-vote" campaign. Voting this year will be simplified through the use of the new Hunter ballot, with only one application by a voter for ballot papers and one box for his deposit.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, NOV. 29, 1904

London, Nov. 29.—The opinion expressed at Esquimalt recently that the recall of the Grafton and Flora foreshadowed a radical change of the policy on the part of the Council of Defence of the Cabinet, is confirmed by the announcement that the government is considering a plan for the strategic distribution of Imperial forces so as to concentrate naval and military strength in a more effective manner.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity, northerly and easterly winds, unsettled with occasional rains.

At last evening's meeting of the city council there developed considerable feeling in connection with the question of making a dumping ground near the rifle range on the Dallas Road.

Captain Townsend of the steamer Queen City, which arrived yesterday afternoon from a trip along the West Coast of this island as far north as Cape Cook, states that the report given out by the Indians of Clayoquot that the stern of some wreck is lying on one of the small islands off that harbor is incorrect.

On the voyage just ended the steamer Tees had an opportunity of testing her sea-going qualities alongside the City of Seattle. In crossing Queen Charlotte Sound, northbound, the sea was very rough. Both ships were going in the same direction, but in the open sweep of the ocean the City of Seattle received more of a buffeting than her officers considered well for her, and they put about heading the ship for shelter. In the meanwhile the Tees continued through the high seas, riding out all without mishap of any kind.

LOSS IN FIRE ESTIMATED AT OVER MILLION

Spectacular Blaze at Beach Resort in Massachusetts

Hull, Mass., Nov. 29.—More than $1,000,000 damage was done and two men were injured last night by a fire which threatened to destroy a section of Nantasket Beach.

Five excursion steamers, the wharf, coal houses and boiler room owned by the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Company were destroyed. A section of Paragon Park, an amusement place, was destroyed, as was the railway station and the state bath houses.

Fred L. Lane, general manager of the steamboat company, set the damage to his concern at more than $1,000,000, and Fire Chief Harry J. Stevens estimated $500,000 damage had been done outside of the steamboat property.

Police Sergeant Thomas Kelleher had an arm broken when he fell from a roof. William Hatt, a fireman, suffered a serious back injury when he fell from a roof.

ONE LIFE LOST AND PERSONS HURT IN FIRE

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 29.—A fire which swept the Holland House, a four-story downtown apartment hotel here early yesterday morning, caused the death of one man and injuries to several others.

Vincent Ponderella, thirty-three, a Filipino musician with an act playing at a local theatre this week, was suffocated. The body was found by firemen in one of the halls.

Several other guests of the apartment building were burned slightly and injured when they became frightened and leaped from upper floor windows. The flaming stairways cut off their exit and the building was not equipped with outside fire escapes.

The fire was discovered by William Baldwin, a guest in the apartment building at 430 a.m. Other residents were quickly awakened and an alarm turned in. More than a dozen taxi drivers volunteered their aid to the fire department and assisted in carrying persons to safety down the ladders. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

CANADA NOW LOSING FEWER UNIVERSITY MEN

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Three hundred and forty Canadians, most of them graduates of Canadian universities, were placed during the past year with Canadian manufacturing concerns and other business establishments by the Technical Service Council, according to a report submitted by Balmer Neilley, vice-chairman of the executive committee, at the annual meeting of the council here this week.

Included among these graduates were forty who after leaving Canadian universities had gone to live in other countries. They were brought back to Canada and placed in positions here. Forty young engineers from the British Isles were also placed in Canadian positions.

Encouraged by the success attained to date, members of the Technical Service Council unanimously decided to continue and enlarge the scope of their efforts. The Council was organized less than two years ago for the purpose of keeping Canadian university graduates in Canada, and to bring the universities into closer touch with Canadian industrial, financial and transportation conditions. Among organizations co-operating with the Council are those representing manufacturing, banking, transportation, mining, departmental stores, engineering concerns, trust companies and other institutions.

FEW NOW LEAVING

The Council reported many Canadian industries had employed men with specialized training for the first time during this year, and that a very small percentage of this year's graduating classes in science from Canadian universities had been obliged to leave Canada to find positions.

The chairman, S. R. Parsons, stated that at the request of the executive he was acting temporarily as chairman in place of the late Sir Edward Kemp, to whose memory he paid a tribute of appreciation and respect. He acknowledged the financial support and co-operation that had made the Council's activities possible. He mentioned that Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, had shown a great interest in the organization and on behalf of the Government had furnished the Council with offices.

EXPECTED RIOT IN PRISON DID NOT BREAK OUT

Danvers, N.Y., Nov. 29.—Persistent and widely circulated rumors that an attempt would be made yesterday for a general riot of some 1,500 convicts in the state prison here, caused Western Harry Kayser to send out a call for the aid of troops. Thirty-eight state policemen, under Lieut. Lynch of Malone Barracks, hurried to the prison. The riot did not materialize.

As the day passed without incidents within the grim walls, the belief grew among the citizenry and guards that the convicts themselves, nettled by the failure of the previous attempt to get out, had started the reports through their grapevine telegraph with the purpose of calling guards back from their day off.

BIG SUN-SPOTS ARE DISCOVERED

Rome, Nov. 29.—Professor Joseph Armellini of the Capitoline Observatory yesterday stated he had discovered a series of new sun-spots large enough to be visible to the naked eye through smoked glasses. The biggest was 51,250 miles long and 32,750 miles wide, according to his estimate.

PLANE PILOT LOSES LIFE

Neenah, Wis., Nov. 29.—Roy Larsen, thirty-five, Oshkosh, Wis. flier, died yesterday from injuries received and Monday when his plane crashed near here. William Weid, a student flier and passenger in the plane, was killed.

Committee in Britain Which Investigated Overseas Markets Makes Report

London, Nov. 29 (Canadian Press Cable).—The outstanding weakness in British marketing operations overseas is a detached insular attitude and unsystematic practice, according to the report of a committee on the education of salesmen appointed by the late Conservative Government. This condition, the committee finds, is a relic of the long past when Britain enjoyed a virtual monopoly of the world's markets for manufactured goods.

FROM ST. JOHN While this committee was investigating, the port of London authority instituted its own inquiries in Canada with opportunities for developing trade between the Dominion and London.

The Morning Post in a leading editorial calls attention to a letter received by the port authority from F. MacIure Sclanders, commissioner of the Board of Trade of St. John, N.B. "Perhaps we do not have enough sailing to and from here and London," Commissioner Sclanders wrote. "Perhaps shipping in London is not fully awakened to appreciate the ever-growing importance of Canada's ocean traffic."

"So far there has been too little personal touch between the Old Country and Canada. When your merchants or manufacturers send representatives here they rarely send the right type of man who can impress the right people. If you people want this market, you must go after it. You must be prepared to pay the price. Such a price would prove a wonderful investment, and the present moment is probably more propitious than any in the past."

THE LEGALITY OF STATUS

ALTHOUGH HON. ERNEST LAPOINTE, Minister of Justice in the Canadian Government, has not issued an official statement regarding what was accomplished at the recent gathering in London arising out of the Imperial Conference of 1926, reports indicate that it was decided to recommend the removal of all limitations to the constitutional equality of the Dominions. In our case, for example, it will be necessary for the Canadian Parliament and the Parliament of Great Britain to pass legislation repealing what is known as the Colonial Laws Validity Act, an Act of 1865, which provides as follows:

Any colonial law which is or shall be in any respect repugnant to the provisions of any act of parliament extending to the colony to which such law may relate, or repugnant to any order or regulation made under authority of such act of parliament, or having in the colony the force and effect of such act, order, or regulation, and shall, to the extent of such repugnancy, but not otherwise, be and remain absolutely void and inoperative.

This provision took on new significance after the Privy Council in 1926 declared invalid article 1024 of the Criminal Code of Canada, which prohibited appeals to the Privy Council in criminal matters, and this tribunal based its decision upon two old laws which still are in existence—one of 1833 and one of 1844—granting to citizens in the colonies the right to take their cases to the Privy Council. It will be noted that only "colonies" are referred to. This, of course, is explained by the fact that in 1833 and 1844 there were no Dominions.

At this juncture it is interesting to recall the debate which took place in the Canadian House of Commons two years ago—after the Privy Council had given its judgment in respect of section 1024 of the Criminal Code of Canada, and following the famous declaration of the Imperial Conference of 1926 on the equality of status of all the Dominions with Great Britain. In that debate Mr. Lapointe reminded the House that Sir John Thompson, when Minister of Justice for Canada, took the view that in matters within the jurisdiction of the Dominion of Canada under the British North America Act, the legislation of this country superseded the legislation of the Imperial Parliament passed prior to the enactment of the British North America Act. He did not recognize the superiority of the British acts of 1833 or 1844 over Canadian legislation. While Mr. Lapointe hesitated to place his opinion beside that of Sir John Thompson, he did not agree with him on this point because, as a matter of pure law, he thought the Privy Council had taken sound ground in pronouncing the Colonial Laws Validity Act as rendering invalid and unconstitutional article 1024 of the Criminal Code of Canada. He added, however, that "if any old legislation obstructs the will of the Canadian people, I am in favor of repealing it."

Reduced to the language of the layman, of course, the business upon which Mr. Lapointe went to London was the proposal for a procedure that will bring all legislation on the statute books of the countries composing the British Commonwealth of Nations into harmony with the most liberal conception of equality of status, and to make the laws of every Dominion supreme as they effect their own affairs. Upon this general acceptance of actual conditions the Empire stands to gain strength.

CONDITIONS DEMAND THE MOTORBUS

THE DECISION OF THE BRITISH CO-lumbia Electric Railway Company to supplement its street car system with motorbuses follows the policy it already has adopted on the Mainland, and also that of transportation systems in many other places. The public of Victoria will welcome the new facilities, since these vehicles will furnish services that are urgently needed, and it is to be hoped the innovation by the company locally may be regarded as the forerunner of further expansion in this direction.

It may be some time before the street railway company will consider it advisable to replace entirely its track system by an adequate motorbus service; but it is generally recognized that the more flexible form of transportation eventually will predominate in more populous communities and suburbs.

We have only to recall the way in which Greater Victoria has spread out in the last few years to appreciate the need which confronts the street railway company—a need which can be met only by motorbuses.

A RARA AVIS

A PART FROM ITS QUESTIONABLE taste, Dr. Tolmie's remark that if a Canadian were appointed Governor-General of Canada, he probably would be some "red-nosed, lame-duck Liberal politician," suggests certain reflections which call for comment.

The farm-yard supplies the Premier with many of his mixed and unmixed metaphors, but we confess we never have heard this one before. We have seen red noses and lame ducks, but a combination of the two in one figure is a phenomenon so rare that if it actually exists it is one of the wonders of the age.

If Dr. Tolmie has a lame duck with a red nose, he should be on the highway to affluence, since Ringling's circus would pay him a fortune for it. Or, actuated by local patriotism, he might desire to have this priceless curio retained in British Columbia, and send it to the provincial museum to be stuffed and mounted for exhibition. Such a rare bird would reign supreme in the realm of freaks, until, perhaps, the "Doctor discovered in his farm-yard a red-nosed, three-legged short-horn, which might or might not be a politician.

Red-nosed politicians, of course, are a very common species. In fact, red noses abound in all walks of life and classes of society. They are to be found in the pulpit and the press, on the bench and at the bar—the legal bar, we mean—in the ranks of prohibitionists, moderationists and bacchanals. Kings, princes and dukes wear them in more or less variegated splendor. There are also white and blue noses, but we never have seen a combination of red, white and blue—a nasal patriotic ensign. Perhaps Dr. Tolmie can find one in his farm-yard.

As far as the color of his nose is concerned, the Liberal Party compares favorably with the Conservatives. The nasal coloring of the Cabinet of Mr. Macenzie King is at least no ruddier than that of the Cabinet of Dr. Tolmie. Indeed, the nose of the Premier of British Columbia is redder than that of the Prime Minister of Canada. And we know of a number of institutions where high-class Tories predominate where the nasal illumination is more brilliant than anything any similar aggregation of Liberals can present, even more brilliant than a summer sunset over the Sooke Hills.

As to the main question of whether a Canadian should be chosen as Governor-General of Canada, Dr. Tolmie may take it from us that a vast majority of the Canadian people would heartily approve of the innovation, irrespective of the color of the appointee's nose, whether he would be lame or not, or whether he would be a Liberal or a Conservative. There are not many people in Canada so seriously afflicted with the "inferiority complex" that they do not think Canada has men who could fill this high office as creditably as anybody from any other part of the British Empire. We hope Dr. Tolmie's remark does not imply that he belongs to this small but noisy class of Canadian detractors.

$3,500,000 FOR A GOOD NAME

"A GOOD NAME IS BETTER THAN riches," John R. Mott, multi-millionaire vice-president of General Motors and chairman of the board of the Union Industrial Bank of Flint, Mich., apparently has taken it to heart.

At any rate, Mr. Mott has dug down into his pocket and withdrawn $3,500,000 cash with which to cover the shortage of defaulting employees of his bank who gambled in the stock market and lost. He may recover some of this money—and he may not—but the fact remains that the men and women who deposited their savings in his bank are protected.

Apparently Mr. Mott considered he was better able to stand the loss than his depositors; apparently he took the broad view that he, as head of the institution to which they had entrusted their savings in good faith, was obligated to protect them. Yet it seems he was in no wise legally responsible and could have resisted any lawsuit successfully.

We need more men with this broader conception of duty, more men who place a greater value on their reputations and their obligations to society than they place on their money.

THE DOMES OF SILENCE

IF IT REQUIRES ONE MORE SLAP IN the face to remind the former Kaiser of Germany that he is not wanted in his native land, he has it in the proposed new Defence of the Republic Act—which omits all reference to himself.

In the old act, which expired several months ago, it will be remembered, a clause prohibited his return to Germany. True, it was a very negative provision, but it did recognize that he was in the land of the living. Now, however, the new proposal which soon will be presented to the Reichstag makes no mention of him or his condition whatsoever. It seems to have been left out, not to convey the idea to him that he might at some time in the future return, but merely because the Reichstag did not consider him of sufficient importance to recognize him.

It would be difficult to imagine a more bitter pill for the exile of Doorn to swallow. For long he reigned supreme, accustomed to be feared, to be feted, to be considered in very truth the monarch of all he surveyed. Such opposition as at times he encountered, he did not mind. But to be ignored completely by an institution which he once dominated, invisibly, if not always visibly—well, what a fate!

This new proposal from the body which governs Germany, notwithstanding the activities and the somewhat potent influence of the monarchical elements, surely is new evidence that republicanism in Germany is a thriving force that will not be easy to overthrow.

THE VICE-REGAL "LIFT"

Observer in The Observer (London)
Reuter tells us that during a week-end on the Ottawa River, Lord and Lady Willington "accepted a lift" from the driver of a lorry carrying a load of dynamite. It must have been a relief to the staff that at no point of the journey did the lift exceed the customary attitude.

LONDON CRIS

The New York Herald-Tribune
Many persons have deplored the passing of the street cries in London, and much has been written recently in the columns of the daily papers on this subject. In the early seventies Londoners had many street sellers, who called attention to their wares by songs or verses, and probably no one was more popular than the vendor of sweets. He was a most picturesque individual, resplendent in a velvet smoking cap with a tassel, white apron and sleeves. His goods were carried in a tray suspended round his neck by a leather strap. His musical cry was:

"I have sweetmeats of every kind,
I have sweetmeats for all.
Brandy balls, brandy balls,
As big as St. Paul's."

The "old clo" man who wore two or three hats on his head and a sack on his back used to be a familiar sight, but he is rarely to be seen nowadays. Comparatively recently one heard the cry of "Old Iron" pronounced as "ole ern," and a year or two ago the cry of "Carbo-leek" by a vendor of crude acid for disinfecting purposes was heard on the London streets.

Loose Ends

There is tragedy in Victoria—two tragedies in St. Louis—and a third, still more serious, in New York.

By H. B. W.

NOTHING, I suppose, is quite so tragic as the failure of successful men, or at least a large proportion of them. In Victoria we have more successful men, who have come here to enjoy their success, than most places, because Victoria is a good place, they think, to retire in. You may see them here on all sides and recognize them by their evident distress. Not being successful, or retired, or distressed, I cannot say exactly how they feel, but from those few successful retired men of my acquaintance I gather that it is pretty bad. When a man has been active all his life, a slave to his business, a creature of routine, he is lost when he becomes free. He can't stand freedom, and properly so, for man was not born to it. After a few hundred generations of retired men maybe there will be those who can adorn an idle life and still save their immortal souls, but this generation is too near the original cave for that.

WHO HAS not seen the tragedy of trying to live without anything to live for? I have in mind a business man who spent fifty years building his success in eastern Canada. When he came here to retire he was as happy as a boy out of school for the summer holidays—for about three months. Then he began to get bored. He tried gardening, golf and bridge and playing checkers with other successful men at the club. But it was no use. He could never feel that everything worth while depended on his golf score. He could never get really worried over his bridge. His garden was all right, but he never felt that the quality of his roses was a desperate matter. He could never feel that anything important depended upon him living and so after a while he died. There wasn't anything else to do.

LIFE is like that. There is nothing so fatal about life as losing interest in it. So long as you are struggling with life, you find it worth while. When the struggle ends and life offers you everything without effort than it doesn't seem to be worth taking. Man is a curious animal and cannot outlive the habits of a lifetime. If he has been accustomed to worry and responsibility he just withers away without them, as countless men are finding in the agreeable surroundings of Victoria. Some of them, men like Captain Troup, C. P. Hill and others, have found that out in time. Their own work finished, they are throwing themselves into community activities, helping the city and saving themselves from the fate of many of their contemporaries. If all the successful retired men who come to Victoria would do the same, the benefit to the city would be great indeed, and there would be considerably less misery among the unfortunate rich.

BEHIND THE bars in St. Louis are two prisoners condemned to death, not for any offence but because they are what they were born to be and can't help it. Touched by their unjust fate, two eminent lawyers have volunteered to defend them before the highest tribunals of the land. The prisoners are mongrooks, little rat-like creatures, made famous by Rudyard Kipling's story of "Bikki-Tikki-Tavi," and their death sentence, the eminent counsel contend, was unjust for two reasons: first, because it had not been proved that they were imported into the United States contrary to law, for they were first discovered, and bought for $40 each from a reputable animal dealer, and second, because both being males, there is no danger of them multiplying and becoming a menace to poultry and game.

A TEMPORARY reprieve from execution has been secured and now the eminent counsel are working to prevent it entirely if they can. Meanwhile, fed on horse, goat and cow meat, the martyrs are growing very fat, blissfully innocent of the cruel fate which the United States reserves for their kind. And somehow one hopes that in the battle between the government of the United States and two little creatures with pointed noses and long tails, the government of the United States will lose.

MODERNIST ART, which has been much in the public eye lately as a result of the adornment of London buildings with strange and hideous forms, has achieved a new and perhaps its greatest triumph. In New York, the other day, they held an exhibition of modernist painting and to it the very best painters of this school sent their finest works. The judges were delighted, though the public, of course, did not know what it was all about, which was as the artists desired.

WELL, in the end, the judges decided to award the highest honors to a picture which revealed a strange conglomeration of female figures apparently standing up and wrapped in the folds of a mighty blanket. In places where such things are understood there was great joy and the judges decided to award the prize accordingly. But the judges insisted that he keep the prize anyway and obligingly explained that the discovery of this slight error really showed how sound was their judgment, for the picture was so good that it looked as well right side up or upside down and, perhaps, better still back to front.

JUST THEN the artist who painted the picture happened to come along and he looked strangely distressed. When he was able to speak he said that his picture had been hung upside down, that the females in it were not supposed to be standing up, but were standing on their heads. But the judges insisted that he keep the prize anyway and obligingly explained that the discovery of this slight error really showed how sound was their judgment, for the picture was so good that it looked as well right side up or upside down and, perhaps, better still back to front.

BETTER PEOPLE, NOT MORE, ARE DECLARED NEEDED

Birmingham, Eng., Nov. 29 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—A challenge to the church was thrown out to-day by Dr. E. W. MacBride, professor of sociology in the Imperial College of Science, South Kensington. He was speaking on the subject of birth control and sterilization of mental defectives before the Anglican Evangelical of the Birmingham diocese.

The birthrate of the thrifty classes in this country, he pointed out, was about the same now as it was sixty years ago. The result was they were being rapidly replaced by the "doled" thrifty classes.

He asked what line the church was going to adopt in the face of this condition.

POOR PARTNER

Right Rev. E. W. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, replied that a nation which put before itself the ideal of increasing its population was already a bad partner in the commonwealth of nations and the church which refused to face such things was already a reactionary force on world progress.

"I view with something like dismay," he said, "the influence of the Roman Catholic Church in the South of Ireland, in Italy and in Poland. We can not have Great Britain indefinitely under the strain of southern Irish immigration. Great Britain sooner or later must close her doors on promiscuous immigration and try to produce not more but better citizens."

The only way to prevent the existence of mentally low grade stocks, continued the bishop, was "either to revert to the harsh conditions of our forefathers," which was unthinkable, or to insure that correct knowledge should disclose what action was possible or desirable.

"Organized research subsidized by the state," he said, was needed.

RECUP LOSSES

She lost a half million dollars when the stock market crashed, but Mrs. Charlotte Palmer King, woman broker of New York and Paris, says she is going to get it back. The feminine financier is pictured above as she arrived in New York to begin buying securities at their new low levels in Wall Street.

New Aid Is Given Soldier Settlers

Regina, Nov. 29.—At the closing session of the annual convention of the Canadian Legion here yesterday afternoon, following discussion of requests and suggestions for remedial legislation on behalf of harassed ex-service men, Major Ashton, chairman of the Soldier Settlement Board, agreed to delay all eviction and cancellation proceedings against soldier settlers in arrears until next spring, by which time the Legion hopes to have plans ready for legislative action which will relieve existing grievances.

Centralized Gold Control Is New Australian Plan

Canberra, Australia, Nov. 29.—The board of directors of the Commonwealth Bank of Australia, wants legislation placing the bank in immediate control of all the gold in Australia.

Hon. E. G. Theodore, Commonwealth Treasurer, in introducing an amendment to the Commonwealth Bank Act in the House of Representatives yesterday, read a letter from the chairman of the board supporting the Labor Government's proposals. The letter added the chairman viewed the present gold situation with disquietude, particularly with regard to credit in London.

Mr. Theodore said the proposed measure was not intended to prevent exportation of gold. It was merely designed to make the bank the one controlling authority in Australia. Commercial houses found it cheaper to ship gold than to make telegraphic transfers.

The measure, therefore, included nothing that would interfere with the convertibility of notes into gold in any quantity. It was merely intended to prevent the shipment of gold without permission.

FURS BRINGING LARGE SUMS TO THIS COUNTRY

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—Canada may still be described as the last great fur preserve of the world. Despite a programme of conservation which has narrowed the open seasons for many varieties of fur bearers, the winter of 1927-28 saw a raw fur production of $18,756,177. This compares favorably with $18,864,126 in the preceding season and $15,072,224 in the season of 1925-26, says a report of the Bureau of Statistics.

The high value of the production is due not only to advancing prices, but to the rapid development of fur farms. Production of these farms grew from $988,335 in 1920-21 to $2,154,350 in the season under review.

Ontario led the provinces in total value of fur production, having a total in 1927-28 of $4,401,869. Quebec followed with $3,500,194, the Northwest Territories with $2,000,968 and Saskatchewan with $1,869,551.

B.C. OVER $1,000,000

British Columbia, Alberta, and Manitoba each had a production valued at over $1,000,000. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island had a combined output of $1,671,857 and the Yukon Territory produced $610,348.

The value of raw furs exported during the twelve months ended June 30, 1928, was $23,998,259. The British market absorbed $10,953,674 worth and most of the rest went to the United States.

Legion Is to Have General Secretary

Regina, Nov. 29.—One of the high lights of the closing day of the annual convention of the Canadian Legion here yesterday was the decision to appoint a general secretary of the Legion and the unanimous recommendation, adopted with hearty cheers, that the convention recommend to the Dominion executive council that Major Reg. Bowler be appointed to the position.

There was a lengthy discussion of Poppy Day activities and protests were voiced against other organizations in Toronto and in British Columbia staging drives for funds during the Armistice celebration period.

"WET" GASOLINE

infernal
nuisance
on a cold
morning

NOT wet with water—just simply loaded with too-heavy fractions of petroleum—that's "wet" gasoline. It can't vaporize in a cold engine.

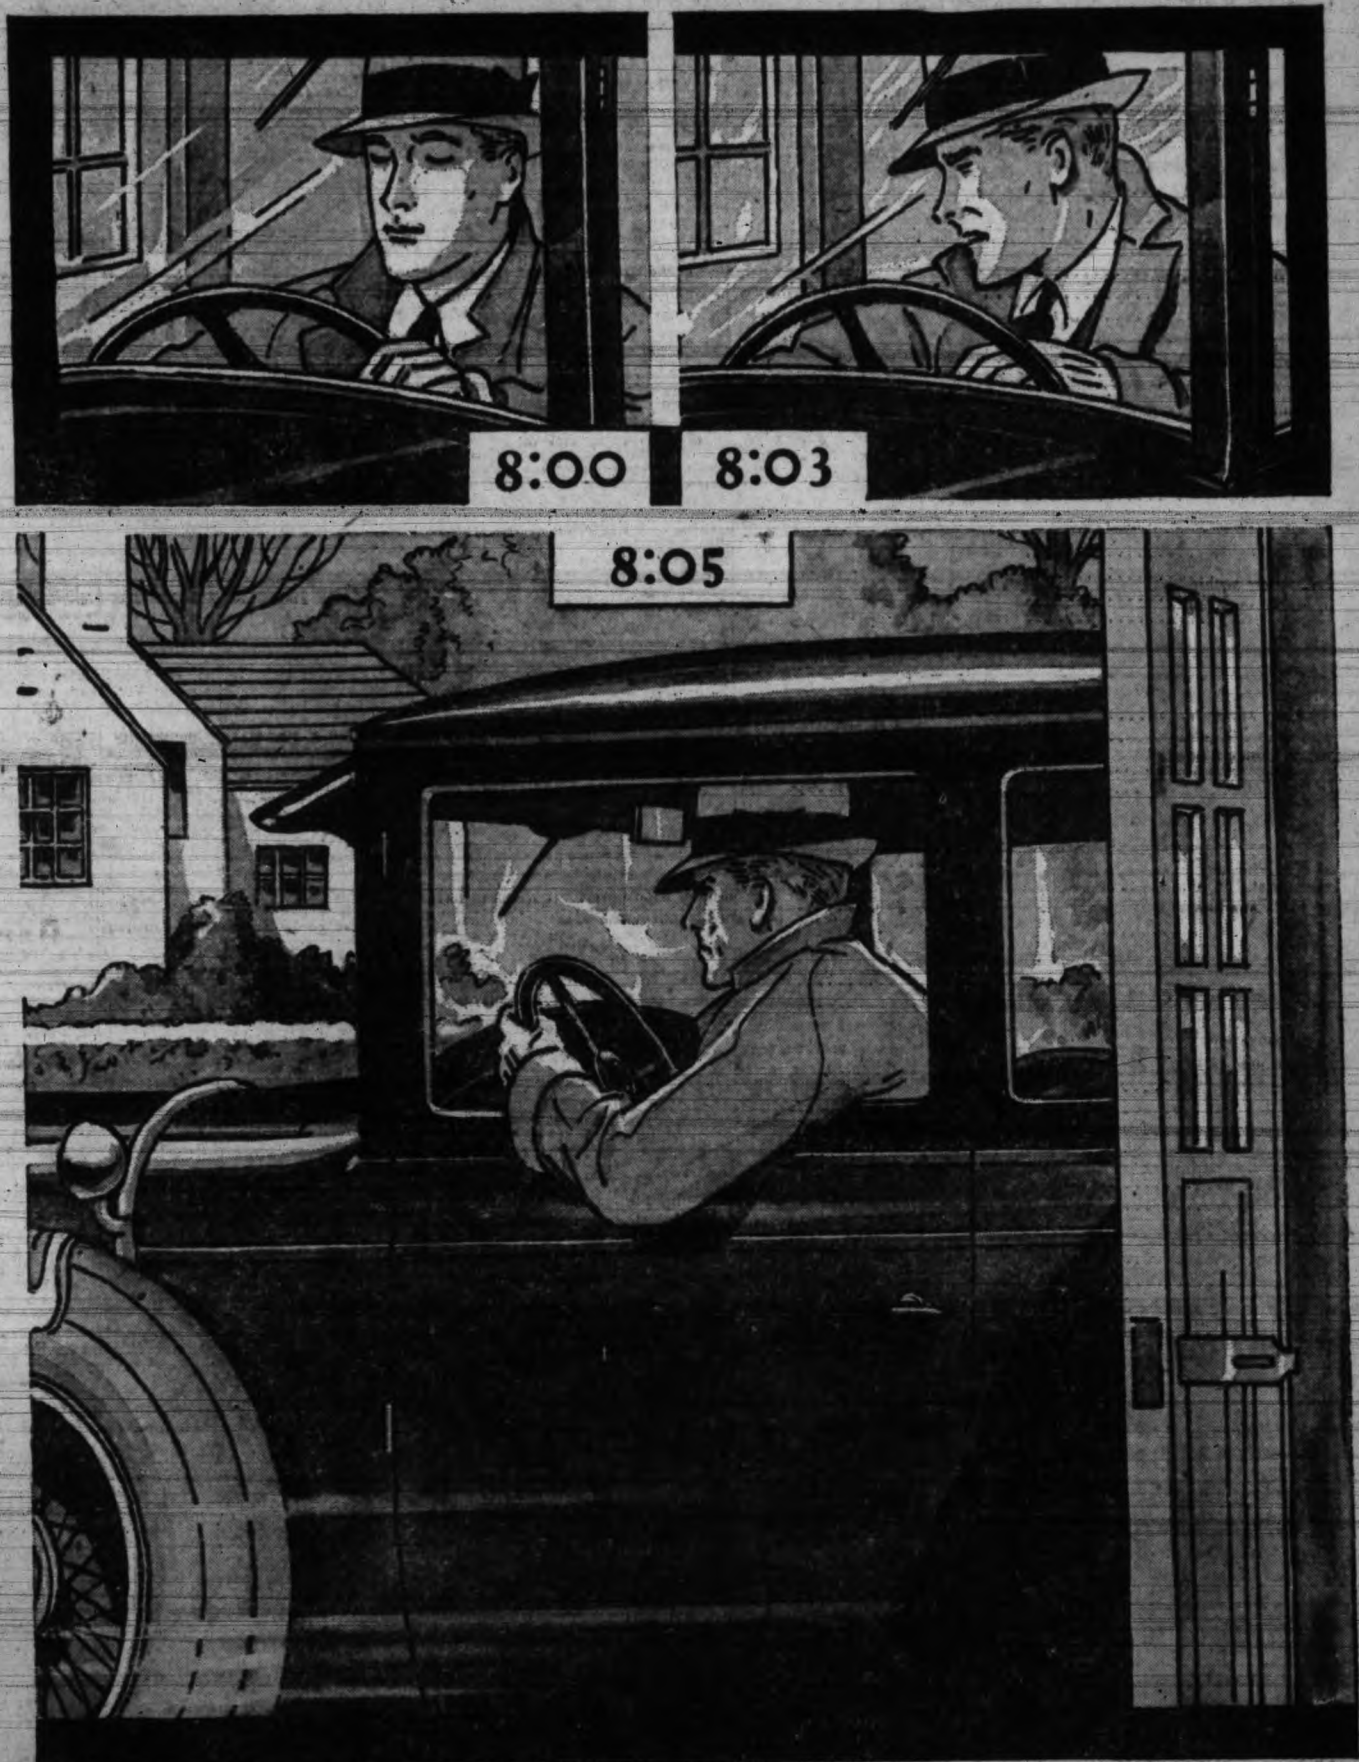

You "choke it" until the motor gurgles. And finally you go missing and spitting and jerking down the street.

Why tolerate it? Why accept "winter grades" of "wet" gasoline any more than summer grades?

There is a "dry" gas—one that starts on half choke and warms up the balkiest motor in half a moment. And the best part about Shell 400, this quick starting "dry" gas, is that it cuts down your oil dilution.

Drive with it a thousand miles and you'll find your oil has very little gasoline in it—not over 10%. But worry through a thousand miles on "wet" gasoline and you'll likely find 40% or even 50% crankcase dilution—caused by gasoline running down the cylinder walls into the oil.

Select a convenient yellow and red Shell pump. Fill with Shell 400 when your tank is low—and see how much quicker and easier you get started the following morning.

BLOW YOUR BREATH ON A COLD MIRROR

... that's what happens to "wet" gasoline in a cold motor—it condenses in droplets on the cylinder walls. "Dry" gas, on the other hand, stays vaporized better and therefore burns more cleanly

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

PUT THE BABIES TO WORK!

"When mothers say to me: 'Tell me how I can get my children to help me with the daily tasks—without 'chaining' them,' they have really put the question of how to live with one's children. There is one way which never works in any family and that is to make work a serious, unpleasant business, which isn't any fun and which any child will escape if possible, and to make it a wholehearted game which is more fun to play than any other game."

This attitude is lost after five years. Before that time the child longs to imitate every adult activity and if allowed to do so will become a veritable dynamo of energy in the household. If told to "run along and don't bother mother" he or she runs along—and when older the mother can plead, implore, hold out inducements, and shame the child for laziness all without noticeable effect. Begin early to let children help with the housework and a sense of responsibility and self-respect will be theirs. "House fun." If it is just mother's and father's house that is another question. Mrs. H. is a notable example of the housewife who never finds it too much trouble to let the little ones help. She says:

"Here are some of the things my small family, all under four, do without being told. Last week I was busy with the laundry before they were up. When I came in they were dressed, they had swept and dusted and gone around the rug with dustless mop and left it as clean as any grown-up could."

They found a clean dress for baby and had her dressed. They had put their night clothes and sheets in a pile to go in the wash.

"All played outdoors all morning and after lunch took their naps. In the afternoon the oldest folded the clothes as I took them from the line. In the evening they helped get dinner, which to them is more fun than anything they can possibly do. One set the table, the other stirred the gravy, the third cut bread and then they all scrambled to see who would reach the pantry first, for the winner has her choice of a vegetable for dinner. I let them carry things to the table and though I often tremble, none has ever spilled a drop."

"They are full of energy, at one moment running along the peak of the range, the next digging worms for pats, the next gathering flower seeds to put in envelopes for next year's planting. They are never still. Including their help get dinner, which to them is more fun than anything they can possibly do. One set the table, the other stirred the gravy, the third cut bread and then they all scrambled to see who would reach the pantry first, for the winner has her choice of a vegetable for dinner. I let them carry things to the table and though I often tremble, none has ever spilled a drop."

"The fewer drugs the better and all fresh. I suggest gauze, absorbent cotton, adhesive tape and a good scissors, vaseline, boric acid crystals, bicarbonate of soda and some simple laxative. One could meet almost any emergency with these and also our leaflet on "First Aid for Stumps, Burns and Cuts." Would be excellent to keep right in the medicine chest for ready perusal in case of need. A self-addressed and stamped envelope will bring it to you and at this time of year it ought to come in handy."

DOCTOR SAYS LOVE DISEASE LIKE MEASLES

German Physician Subjects
Love to Clinical Laboratory
Analysis in Book

Munich, Nov. 29.—To millions of men and women the world over love may still be life's greatest romance, but to Dr. Waldemar Schwelshheimer it is nothing more than a disease to be compared with measles. This physician has just published a volume "Love Only a Disease," in which he subjects love to purely clinical laboratory analysis.

He draws a parallel between love and measles and contends that in the person "afflicted" with love there is a disposition for the "disease." He explains that just like a cold, it is not caught by every person who shakes hands with another, so the love-germs are not inoculated in everyone indiscriminately.

INCUBATION PERIOD
He then argues that, as in all infections, the "love-disease" has its incubation period between its inception and crisis. This, he writes, is similar to the incubation period in diphtheria. The infection does not make one violently ill immediately after the germs have lodged themselves in the human system. Love at first sight, the physician holds, is as exceptional as the sudden breaking out of scarlet fever.

Once the "love-disease" has broken out, Dr. Schwelshheimer says, its symptoms are indubitable. The eye is blurred, the face becomes pale, the heart palpitates, sleep is irregular and the sufferer loses weight. Those unhappy in love may fade away like flowers deprived of sunshine and water. On the other hand, like faded flowers are brought back to life by sunshine and water, such love-sick may see their love reciprocated will recover.

DISEASE RARELY FATAL
Diagnosis and prognosis in the "love-disease" are established with less difficulty than in measles, the author contends. Few are those who die while in love.

Even in the matter of therapeutics, Dr. Schwelshheimer attempts to show the existence of clinical parallels with other diseases. With love, as with other diseases, a cure is often difficult. Inoculation against the "love-disease" is not yet possible, nor has a curative serum been discovered.

HOSPITAL CASES TO PAY WARD FEE IN ADVANCE

Vancouver General Given
Government Approval of
New Regulation

Vancouver, Nov. 29.—Notice of the approval by the Government of a "closed hospital" regulation, as revised by the Survey Board, was received last night by the board of directors of the Vancouver General Hospital.

The rule which will be put into effect January 1, provides that patients, on admission, will be required to pay one week's ward charges in advance. If unable to meet this demand, unless the superintendent or his deputy is satisfied that there is reasonable prospect of payment being made, they shall be admitted only under the attending staff.

If patients become delinquent to the extent of a week, they will be transferred to the attending staff or given opportunity to leave the institution. The regulation reads:

Expenditures last month, amounting to $107,707, exceeded the income by $4,514, whereas in October, 1928, there was a surplus of $14,340. The total deficit of the hospital at October 31, was shown as $195,566.

On the condemnation by the first marshal of the Twelfth Avenue annex, which was erected as a war emergency building in 1917, the board decided upon the demolition of this structure.

Arrival of Miss Grace Fairley from London, Ont., to take over the position of superintendent of nurses, was announced for December 7 or 9.

Appointment was announced of Mrs. J. D. D. Broome by the woman's auxiliary of the hospital as a life governor of Vancouver General Hospital.

E. B. McMaster notified the directors of a Masonic contribution of $300 to furnish a room in the new building.

THREE YOUNG GIRLS DROWNED

Augusta, Maine, Nov. 29.—Three small children were drowned when they fell through thin ice on Two-Mile Brook, near here, yesterday and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Parlin, nearly sacrificed their lives in their frantic rescue attempt.

The children were Beatrice, aged five, Irene, six, and Katherine Alberta, eight. Mrs. Parlin is in a critical condition from shock and exposure. She was dragged from the icy water by her eleven-year-old son, Levitt, one of the nine Parlin children.

The father, summoned from his work in an Augusta garage, rushed to the stream, which traverses the Parlin farm. In attempting to recover the bodies of the children he was swept under the ice and with difficulty was pulled to safety by his brother.

The bodies of the three sisters were recovered.

Children's Story Hour.—The Children's Story Hour will be held on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. All children are cordially invited.

The Name of Gordon Head Telephone Exchange

Being Changed to

ALBION

In preparation for the cut-over from the manual to the dial (automatic) system of telephone operation in Victoria, the name of the Gordon Head exchange is being changed to Albion. This does not mean, however, that the automatic system is to be inaugurated in Gordon Head at the present time, although this may be done later on. The change in the name of Gordon Head is made necessary by the fact that the present name is not suitable for dialing and for technical reasons might cause confusion when the Victoria system is changed.

The new name, Albion, will be used in all Gordon Head telephone numbers appearing in the December issue of the directory, and will become effective at midnight, December 1. After that time kindly use the new directory and destroy the old.

"Before My Baby Was Born"

"I was in very poor health before my baby was born and had to lie down two hours every day. The doctor said I would never carry my baby as I was too weak. My mother persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has helped me wonderfully. My baby is not very big but he is strong and healthy. I recommend the Compound to every woman I hear complaining and when I feel weak I take it again myself. Everybody says they never saw me looking better. I will be glad to answer letters if I can help other women to be strong and healthy again."

VETERANS ASK IMMIGRATION COMMISSION

Regina, Nov. 29.—A resolution passed by the Canadian Legion at its annual convention here, which ended yesterday, says:

"That this convention again urge upon the Dominion Government the necessity of appointing a special commission to deal with the entire question of immigration."

"That the Canadian Government be requested in the interests of farmers and wage earners to limit entries from other than British and preferred countries to near relatives of present settlers until such time as the findings of a national commission of inquiry are available for the purpose of a more scientific approach to the subject."

"That this convention pledges the Department of Immigration and Colonization its full support for a policy of rigid selection, more especially as to the character, physique and industry of the two distinct classes above mentioned."

The convention also passed a resolution objecting to the proposed migration

tion to Canada of any Mennonite or other refugees from Russia, both from a national and an Empire standpoint, and more particularly on account of the present unemployment conditions

THE SPORTS MIRROR

The future racing centre of America. In these words, James N. Crofton, general manager of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club, sums up his opinion of the new $2,000,000 race track and clubhouse, successor to the famous Tijuana Oval, situated in Mexico, four miles below the United States-Mexico border, and 22 miles from San Diego.

Crofton wants to see the greatest thoroughbreds in the country lined up at the barrier for the opening of the racing season December 26, when the $10,000 Agua Caliente Handicap, the richest stake in the history of horse racing, is run off. To attain that end, the general manager of the club recently left for the east to interest wealthy turfmen in entering their horses on the Mexico track.

Crofton took a number of pictures with him to create greater interest in the track. "Ambassadors" of the club have been busy on the eastern tracks during the summer, and Crofton will confer with these at various points on his trip. His tour includes visits to the tracks at Hawthorne Park, Chicago; Jamaica, New York; Laurel, Md.; Churchill Downs, Louisville, and Fairmount Park, St. Louis.

The first stop will be Chicago, where Crofton will meet Judge George W. Schilling, presiding steward at the Calgary and Winnipeg tracks, and R. F. Carman, well known turf politician. In New York, he will meet Ernest L. Leighninger, turf writer, and Tommy Gorman, assistant general manager at the Caliente Club. Jack Campbell, racing secretary, will join the party in Maryland.

Miami, New Orleans and Havana will make their bids for patronage of winter racing, and it is Crofton's desire to advance the claim of the Mexico race track before the horsemen have committed themselves to race at other courses.

Millions have been spent on the clubhouse, track, paddocks, hotel, and casino, and racing fans of the west have styled it the "Deauville" of America.

The new buildings will be fireproof throughout, of reinforced concrete and steel construction, and embodying the latest developments in race track construction, with a superior ventilating system and every convenience for owners and horses. Spanish architecture is employed in the new structures.

Horsemen will be interested in the starting system which Marshall Cassidy will employ. All starts will be made from permanent stalls in a variable class track, new runner providing a chute for every distance at which races will be held. A half-mile training course will also be provided.

Present plans call for an 81-day racing season at Agua Caliente. The crystal sands of the ocean speedway at Daytona Beach this winter will see a new spectacular assault upon the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles an hour. This time it is to be Kaye Don, who will attempt to wrest the title from his fellow countryman, Sir Henry Segrave.

Segrave set the present record there last March when he exceeded by 22 miles an hour the previous mark held by an American, the late Ray Keech of Philadelphia. Segrave since has announced his retirement from automobile racing and has taken up motorboating as a hobby. His record-holding car, the Golden Arrow, has been placed in a museum in England.

Dates for the forthcoming speed classic, for which no American entries yet have been made, formally have been set for March 1 to 15, although they are subject to change.

Don, who is well-known in racing circles on the European continent, will be a newcomer in the American high speed classic. He is a veteran driver. The American Automobile Association, which has supervised previous automobile trials here, has been advised that Don's machine is under construction. Little is known on this side as to the specifications except that it is to be equipped with two 1,000-horsepower motors in line. It is believed to be of the four-wheel drive type.

Indications that the world's record also might be shattered by another British driver before long is seen in an announcement by the American Automobile Association, that Capt. Malcolm Campbell of England, a former record holder, is considering a comeback.

He set a record of 205.95 at Daytona Beach in 1928 in his 12-cylinder Blue Bird before Keech came along in a giant 36-cylinder machine and boosted the mark up to 207.85. Whether he will come to Daytona Beach in the event he decides to try again is not known here.

At any rate, regardless whether Don or Campbell succeed in establishing a new record, the title is doomed to remain abroad for another year at least, unless America can produce a machine and a driver capable of bettering Segrave's mark of nearly four miles a minute.

It has been rumored that several Americans are interested in the construction of a record-contending machine, but so far they have made no public announcement.

Paul Bunyan Wins Feature Handicap At New Orleans

New Orleans, Nov. 29.—The winter racing season was opened in New Orleans yesterday before 10,000 spectators, with L. M. Severn's fleet Paul Bunyan winning the Thanksgiving handicap, the feature of the card of seven races.

Paul Bunyan was ridden by Jockey L. Martin, who brought his backers $7.60 for a two-dollar mutual ticket. Calahad paid $6.10 for place, and Cal Roper $2.80 for show.

Paolino Confident Of K.O. Win Over "Tuffy" Griffith

Class of Tough Young Slinger From Sioux City Will Be Severely Tested To-night in Ten-round Bout With the Basque at Chicago Stadium; Griffith Will Depend on Greater Speed and Heavier Punch, While Basque Is Counting on His Peculiar Mauling Style.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—The metal of Garry "Tuffy" Griffith, the tough young slinger from Sioux City, Ia., as a contender for the vacant heavyweight title, will receive its most important test since he entered the division, in his ten-round bout with Paolino Basque, at the Stadium to-night.

Griffith has encountered little trouble since becoming a heavyweight, but his opponents have included no fighters of the European class. Bigger and more experienced, the Spaniard was an overweight 7.5 chance to wreck Griffith's chances of being numbered among the outstanding contenders for the heavyweight throne.

YOUNG GOLFER LEADS FIELD

John Rouse, Chicago, Scores Fine 68 in Berkeley Open Tournament

Berkeley, Cal., Nov. 28.—Holding a stroke lead over the field as the result of his score of 68 yesterday, John Rouse, twenty-two-year-old professional of the Blue Golf Club of Chicago, to-day scored the second day of play in the Berkeley club open golf tournament.

John Rouse, of the California club, today scored 68 in the second round of the tournament, which was held for the second year in the country with a total of 71.

Harmon Smith, Joplin, Mo., professional, and one of the favorites in the play, was still within striking distance of the leader with a score of 70.

Alfred E. Williams, one of the "best" players, had a 71 for his opening round.

High scores will be played to-day, with 80 holes on Saturday, Joe Rouse, Australian, scored a 71.

Walker's Goal In Last Minute Gives Esks Fine Victory

Seattle Hands Portland First Defeat of Season in Great Overtime Battle; Eskimos Now Resting in Top Position in Pacific Coast Hockey League; First Goal to Be Scored on Aitkenhead in Over 260 Minutes of Hockey; Harris and Teel Engage in Fist Fight.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 29.—The Seattle Eskimos to-day were firmly perched on the top rung of the Pacific Coast Hockey League ladder while Portland's Buckaroos contented themselves with a second berth as the result of the Eskimos' last-second 1-0 victory over the locals at Coliseum here last night.

Andy Aitkenhead, Portland goalie, was perhaps the most dejected member of the local puck chasers. Until Jack Walker, dean of hockey players in these parts, sent the puck into the Buckaroo net last night, Aitkenhead had allowed no scores for 261 minutes 9 seconds. Added to this indignity was the fact that Walker's shot was somewhat of a fluke, the puck having glanced off the stick of Joe McGoldrick, Portland defence man, before it dented the net.

COLLEGE MEET WANDERERS IN RUGBY FEATURE

Craigdarroch Champs Clash With Oak Bay Boys in Deciding Game To-morrow

"Rep" Team Prospects to Practice at Willows; "Y" to Meet University School

While the senior all-star fifteen battle at the Willows in the first try-out match for the Victoria "rep" team, Victoria College, undefeated defenders of the city and Provincial Intermediate champions, will clash with the Oak Bay Wanderers in the deciding game of the first half of the schedule.

Y.M.C.A. will play the University School at Mount Tolmie in the other game of the day. Although considerable interest will centre around the trial game for the McKeech Cup prospects, the feature of the day promises to be the encounter between the Collegians and Wanderers. Neither team has tasted defeat so far this year. College has not had a score chalked up against them, while the Wanderers have blanked their opponents so far with the exception of one drop goal.

Evenly matched The squads are about evenly matched as far as weight is concerned, although the Craigdarroch backfield will outweigh the Oak Bay boys slightly.

Team play and condition will doubtless prove the deciding factors in the match at the Victoria High School grounds. The match will start at 3.15 o'clock.

Prospective players on the Victoria "rep" squad held their first workout at the Armories last night and showed plenty of enthusiasm over their approaching game with Vancouver on December 7.

During their game to-morrow and the practices they will hold next week, Manager Bob Travis and Phil Willis, secretary of the local union, will select the squad, but the names of the successful candidates will not be made public until two days before the game.

They will workout at the Willows to-morrow at 3.15 o'clock.

WHO WON? The overtime period ended as the score was made and there were many who spent considerable time finding out who won the game. Both teams played a brilliant defensive and there were few times when either forward line was able to break through to a scoring position.

FIRST FIGHT SEEN In the first period Portland took twelve shots at the Seattle net against eight for the Eskimos. Both were from long range, however, and gave Winkler and Aitkenhead little trouble. Smokey Harris, Seattle bad man, and Teel, Buckaroo forward, provided the fans with a bit of excitement in the first stanza when they dropped their sticks and mixed until they were sent off the ice.

Play tightened in the second session and only once in the third period was a shot made. That was when Red Conn, Portland captain, broke through and sent the puck at the net to have it stopped by Winkler.

THE LINE-UPS Seattle—Winkler, Townsend, Benson, Daly, Browne and Anderson. Portland—Aitkenhead, McGoldrick, Pratt, Downie, Capes and Teel. Seattle subs—Walker, Harris, Sutherland, Savage and Rennicks. Portland subs—Burke, Conn, Huffman, Lyons and Armstrong.

BOWLING

C. Cornett led the scores in the five-pin match; his team, the Ups and Downs, took from the Eagles at the Arcade Alleys last night. Cornett's individual game and aggregate scores of 248 and 1,198 played a big part in the squad's two-game victory.

Jokers, tenpin aces, made a clean sweep of their games with James Island. The winners toppled over 600 pins over their opponents. "Bully" Porter, of the Jokers, was high man with 303 and 587 points to his credit in the individual game and aggregate classes.

Underdogs In N.H.L. Bring Down Leading Clubs

Detroit And N.Y. Americans Begin To Hit Real Form

Cougars Chalk Up First Victory of Season at Expense of Powerful Montreal Maroons; Americans Also Come Through With Initial Win by Humbling Undefeated Ottawa Club; New York Rangers Scramble to Top of American Section by Victory Over Chicago's Black Hawks.

New York, Nov. 29.—Two teams which have been distinctly the underdogs so far in the National Hockey League race have risen in unsuspected might to show the leaders they are not to be trifled with. Up to last night neither the Detroit Cougars nor the New York Americans could boast a victory in the hockey scramble but now each has a triumph in its list over a team which seemed to have a place in the Stanley Cup play-offs sewed up.

The Americans, with three straight defeats, lowered the colors of the Ottawa Senators who previously had won five games and tied one, in a thrilling overtime battle. Three big factors appeared in the triumph of the formerly pointless Americans. First was the superlative goaltending of Little Roy Worters, who alone kept the Senators from rolling up a big score. Then came Billy Burch, the bullet shot centre with two of the goals for his team's 4-3 triumph. And third, a speeding recruit forward, Roy Burmeister, from the New Haven Eagles, who gave the New Yorkers a much faster reserve front line.

OTTAWA TIRED
Ottawa, after a long road tour, was slow at the start, and although the Canadians had a bit of an edge in passing and shooting, it took all they had to gain a tie by a third period rally.

Detroit had shown signs of strength in a 5-5 tie with the New York Rangers, but the Cougars had not given a convincing display until last night.

the expense of the previously undefeated Ottawa Senators.

The Americans triumphed 4-3 in a furious overtime battle. A tricky goal by Norman Himes, when the extra period was only twenty-four seconds old, decided the contest after Ottawa had staged a great uphill battle to tie the score in the third frame.

Although Himes scored the winning goal, Roy Worters, New York goalie, was the outstanding player on the ice.

The Line-ups
Americans—Worters, Simpson, Conacher, Burch, Boyd, Macsaur, Shepard, Holmes, Burmeister, Reiss and Himes.
—Ottawa—Connell, Clancy, Smith, Lamb, Pinegan, H. Kilrea, Touhey, Starr, Grosvenor, Shields, Connor and Nighbor.

Officials—Ritchie and Cleghorn.

Summary
First period—1, Americans, Burch, 4:45; 2, Ottawa, Clancy, 4:45; 3, Americans, Shepard from Conacher, 5:20; 4, Americans, Burch, 1:20.

Second period—5, Ottawa, Clancy from H. Kilrea, 4:15.

Third period—6, Ottawa, Pinegan from Shields, 13:10.

Overtime—7, Americans, Himes, 24.

Montreal, Nov. 29.—Staving off a desperate rally in the last period, which netted the locals three goals, Detroit Cougars took last night's National Hockey League match for Montreal Maroons by 7-4. Detroit's young fast forward line came into its own when they found the Maroons below form in the early stages of the game, and ran up a seven goal to three advantage. The locals came to life near the end.

The Line-ups
Detroit—Beveridge, Noble, Hicks, Goodfellow, Hay, Connor, Kurie, Lewis, Brophie, Bellefeuille and Hughes.

Montreal—Benedict, C. Benedict, Wilcox, Phillips, Ward, Trotter, Munro, Dutton, Stewart, Siebert, Smith, Robinson and Northcott.

Summary
First period—1, Detroit, Hicks, 5:45; 2, Montreal, Stewart from Dutton and Smith, 4:30; 3, Montreal, Siebert, 4:45; 4, Detroit, Aurie from Lewis, 5:30; 5, Detroit, Cooper, 5:35; 6, Montreal, Dutton from Ward, 5:50.

Second period—7, Detroit, Cooper from Hay, 1:35; 8, Detroit, Hay, 1:35; 9, Detroit, Cooper from Hicks, 7:47.

One of Best in West —By Jimmy Thompson

Calling teams to win or lose is a risky business because nine times out of ten you are wrong, and the other time the teams don't play. Now that the Regina Rough Riders are out to ride off with the Dominion rugby title there is considerable interest in their chances against the eastern champions. Last year these same westerners received a glorious mauling at the hands of the Hamilton mountain cats, but that's history now. To put it in plain English "revenge is sweet," for according to advance reports these cowboys are all set up with the idea of taking back the silverware to their own stamping grounds.

Most critics agree that the Regina squad is one of the strongest teams that has been fielded in a number of years and offer the old argument that the west knows its rugby and can produce as much a set of players as the east. The west is using the old rug mauler when they say that the forward pass has met with considerable success and they intend to concentrate on it in the finals in order to have an advantage over the eastern contenders, who so far have put little confidence in the play. This coming battle of eastern and western champions, besides having the usual drawing power, will attract a great deal of attention as a final comparison of the new code that has been introduced into the Canadian game and the old type of game. Des Grubb has been one of the mainstays of the half-line during the schedule, and his grizzly broken-field running and team-work with Eddie James stamps him as one of the best backfield men in the west.

BILLIARDS

The first round of Two Jacks Dope Christmas billiard handicap tournament was completed last evening, with all but one match being closely contested.

The scores:
P. Hatcher 250, H. Symons 242; H. Hatcher 250, F. Bennett 184; T. Renfrew 250, P. Sheret 236; F. Williams 250, A. M. O'Brien 244; A. Quinn 250, J. Colinsford 221.

The draw for the second round follows:

Quinn, rec. 90, vs. C. Cornett, rec. 110; A. Quinn, rec. 110, vs. T. Renfrew, rec. 60; H. Hume, rec. 35, vs. F. McNicol, rec. 25; K. Foster, rec. 35, plays winner of McKenzie vs. Mowat.

When they sent the Canadian Scottish down to a 50-50 defeat last night, Army and Navy No. 2 team entered a tie for first place in the "B" section of the Interservice Billiard League.

The result of the game left four teams tied for top berth in the division.

Up to the last game the Scottish were in the lead, but lost out when the Army and Navy squad established a big lead.

To raise money for the Christmas Relief Fund, a special handicap billiard tournament will be staged at the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. rooms.

Entries for the tourney will close to-morrow.

J. West, J. Food and I. Daff will take charge of the handicapping.

London, Ont., Nov. 29.—Weston Drupp of Woodstock, was elected captain of the Canadian lawn bowling team, composed of twenty-nine bowlers, nine of whom will be accompanied by their wives, for the trip to New Zealand and Australia next week. The party will leave Toronto on Saturday for Vancouver, where they will embark on December 11 for the Antipodes.

The following Vancouverites are the only westerners making the trip: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bawden, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Day, H. Gourlay, Robert Gray (vice-captain), James McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. A. Quartermaine, and A. I. Sioddard.

London, Nov. 29.—The Prince of Wales and George Bernard Shaw divided interest last night in the Primrose Garden, the seven-foot Italian heavy-weight boxer, at a ring show conducted under amateur rules for charity. A fashionable crowd of spectators was on hand.

There was some difficulty in finding a single big enough for the Italian, but he at last was clothed in one which was as tight as a sausage skin over his 285 pounds of muscle.

Crack Racer From Le Mar Stock Farm Captures Handicap at Bowie Track

Is Given Great Challenge on Home Stretch By Dr. Freeland and Glen Wild

Bowie, Md., Nov. 29.—Rumpling back to the form that won him the title of the leading handicap thoroughbred of the west, Misstep, the crack racer from the Le Mar Stock Farm, yesterday made good in the east when he won the Thanksgiving Handicap over the Bowie track.

Pitted against ten of the best routers in training, the flashy four-year-old son of Upset was made the favorite despite his recent poor efforts on the Maryland tracks.

Some of Canada—Greenwood, Jack Carner and to his ride goes much of the credit for Le Mar Stock Farm colors victory.

IS CHALLENGED

But it was not without a struggle that Misstep held his place. W. J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland and Glen Wild, bearing the silks of J. F. Adams, were badly outrun in the early part of the hunt but in the last sixteenth began overhauling the timing.

Dr. Freeland failed to make it as Workman lifted his spent mount over the line. A stride past the judge's stand and Dr. Freeland was in front. Third went to Glen Wild.

Well backed by the crowd that braved the chilly weather, Misstep paid $5.10 to win, $4.30 place and $3.50 to show. Dr. Freeland was worth $15.40 to place and $8.90 to show, while Glen Wild paid $9.10 to run third.

MEN who know fabrics but who don't know Tip Top value are every day mistaking a Tip Top suit or overcoat for a much higher priced garment.

If Tip Top fabrics, Tip Top tailoring and Tip Top style had to be sold in very small measure, the price of Tip Top clothes would be a great deal higher. But Tip Top are the world's largest one price tailors, whose volume permits them to operate on a very small margin of profit. Also buying direct from the world's greatest mills in huge quantities means great savings.

You can take advantage of Tip Top buying and manufacturing methods to own fine clothes yourself without paying any premium for quality. Just step into any Tip Top store, select your fabric, any color, have it tailored in the style you like best—the price is always $27.

Roller Skating To Make Return

Two Modern Rinks Will Be Opened Here Next Month

H. B. Olson, President of Gray Line, and George McEwan, Proprietor of Coliseum Theatre, Announce Opening of New Amusement Centres on Yates Street; Laying of Hardwood Floors Will Commence Immediately.

Roller skating promises to take its place as one of the leading winter pastimes in Victoria with the announcement this morning of the opening of two rinks in this city. Both will be located on Yates Street in the heart of the city, one at the Gray Line Depot, 756 Yates Street, and the second in the building formerly occupied by Masters Motor Company, 915 Yates Street.

Renovation work will be started immediately on both buildings, and the laying of the floors will be completed within a couple of weeks. Victoria has been without a roller rink since the old Assembly Hall, located on Fort Street, between Quadra and Blanchard Streets, burned to the ground in 1911. The Willows skating arena was opened the same year.

H. B. Olson, president of the Gray Line Tours Limited, stated this morning that renovation work on the top floor of the motor depot will be started immediately and the rink will be opened by December 15. The contract will be let at once for the laying of a number one maple floor, which will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000.

Every available foot of floor space will be utilized and the actual skating space will measure about sixty-two feet by 130 feet. Dressing rooms, check rooms and skate rooms will be constructed and the rink will be one of the most up-to-date in the Pacific northwest. The floor is well adapted to roller skating through the fact that there are no posts in it.

Entrance to the rink will be from Yates Street, and it is expected the new amusement centre will be exceptionally popular. All the latest equipment will be used.

TO LEASE FLOOR

In order that the rink may be operated by an experienced man, Mr. Olson plans to lease the floor to E. E. King, operator of fifteen arenas in the Pacific northwest. Among the principal cities where Mr. King has rinks are Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Bellingham and Nanaimo.

When the floor has been laid and the necessary work carried out to accommodate the skaters, Mr. King will arrive here with all the necessary equipment. He plans to have about 500 pairs of the best make of skates in

Nevers Rips And Tears Through For Six Touchdowns

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Ernie Nevers had some great days when he played fullback for Stanford, but none better than he had in leading the Chicago Cardinals to a 40-0 victory over the Chicago Bears for the city pro football championship yesterday.

Nevers ripped and tore through the Bear Line for six touchdowns, and converted four of the extra points for the Cardinals' whole collection of points.

Music for the skaters will be provided by an harmonic organ. Skating sessions will be held every night from 7:30 until 10 o'clock, and on Wednesday afternoons from 2 till 4:30, while every afternoon a session will be held for children from 4 till 6:30 o'clock.

G. F. McKean, proprietor of the Coliseum Theatre, will operate the second rink, located at 915 Yates Street. This will have a skating space of sixty-five by 130 feet.

START FLOOR MONDAY

The laying of the hardwood floor will be commenced Monday morning, and it is hoped to open the new amusement centre by December 5. Check rooms, dressing rooms and skate rooms will be constructed and everything done to make the rink a popular resort.

The skates have been ordered through a local firm and will arrive here within a few days. Music for the skaters will be provided through loud speakers, similar to those used for the "talkies" in a moving picture house.

Skating sessions will be held every evening from 8:30 o'clock until 11 o'clock, and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, with a special session for kiddies at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Volomite Purchased For $13,500 By Walnut Hall Farm; Other Fine Prices

New York, Nov. 29.—Volomite, which, as an unproved trotter, but with the blood of a champion running in his veins, left the Walnut Hall farm of Lexington, Ky., returned yesterday to the Blue Grass a king over America's largest harness horse breeding farm.

Two years ago the Walnut Hall farm consigned the son of Peter Volod-Cla Felice to the Old Glory sale and Walter Cox, veteran trainer and driver from Goshen, N.Y., acting on orders of the late Tom Taggart laid $5,800 on the board for the promising yearling. Yesterday the Lexington farm entered the ranks of buyer and paid $13,500 to return the great trotter to its Blue Grass state.

Although Volomite won $29,000 as a three-year-old this year under the direction of Walter Cox, his racing days are over with his return to the Walnut Hall farm. There he will join the great stables that have annually placed the Walnut Hall farm at the top of Old Glory sales.

But it was not Volomite that topped the thirty-fifth sale, which closed yesterday. This honor went to Hazelton by Princeton-Jeanette, which was purchased by B. J. Alkemade of Elton, STROPPING IS ESSENTIAL TO THE PERFECT SHAVE!

a bathroom tragedy

which proves that a million barbers can't be wrong

It never gets into the newspapers. Reformers don't make it an issue. But it probably causes more unhappiness than tramping the little wife's ace!

A philosopher once said, "If you want to see the raw side of a man's nature—have him shave with a dull blade."

He might have added, "If you want to see his bright side have him shave with the new Valet Auto-Strop Razor."

By automatically stropping each blade before each shave—just as barbers do—this wonder-razor smooths out the agonizing needle points that cause shaving torture. It's the only razor that strops, shaves and cleans without removing the blade.

A couple of flips on the strop—and you have an edge so keen that even the toughest stubble gives up in dismay! Gone are the sting and smart. Gone is the fear of scraping. Each stroke is sure, clean, slick. And cool as a mountain spring. You get through faster . . . your shave lasts longer . . . your face looks better—and feels it!

Famous English Golf Pro Is Dead

Hoylake, Eng., Nov. 29.—Jack Morris, famous English golf professional, died yesterday, following sixty years as professional to the Royal Liverpool Club.

The veteran Royal Liverpool Club pro was a member of the famous Morris family, said to be England's greatest line of golfers. Old Tom Morris was his uncle while Young Tommy was his cousin.

In 1889, the year Young Tommy held the first of his four open titles, Jack crossed the border to take up his duties at Hoylake. He was a life member of Royal Liverpool and Milden Clubs and an honorary member of Leasowes.

Plane Base

Board Told

Affects Navigation in Harbor,
Capt. J. W. Troup Tells Chamber

Ships Must Give Way to Planes; Clover Point Dump
an Eye Sore

Declaring that a very dangerous situation existed in the Inner Harbor owing to the location of the seaplane base, Capt. J. W. Troup, chairman of the port development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, reported to the board of directors to-day upon the work of his committee in the matter.

Capt. Troup referred to the meeting of the group with the City Council in which Equimault was favored as a seaplane base. It had been pointed out by the council that a license for the base on Erie Street had already been given, however.

"Personally," he continued, "I am of the opinion that at the present situation can never be anything but a temporary one and it is not very safe at all."

He went on to explain that Federal air regulations provided that all surface craft must make way for seaplanes in off and away. Since the runway of the planes is the full of the fairway in the harbor, it means that all shipping must be at a standstill when the planes are moving. The thing is evidently impossible and must be brought to the attention of the authorities.

Capt. Troup pointed out that most operators of surface craft were unaware of these regulations making the matter still more serious.

Other matters affecting the committee were discussed by Capt. Troup. In connection with the beautifying of the Dallas Road waterfront he referred to the dump for junk at Clover Point which he termed as the "greatest disfigurement on the whole waterfront" from Ten-mile Point to the harbor. While not apparent from the road, it was very noticeable from the

Another Apartment
House For Oak Bay
Will Cost $50,000

A new apartment building to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 will be erected in Oak Bay at the corner of Oak Bay Avenue and Yale Street. Plans for the new building were filed yesterday with the Oak Bay municipality. Some slight changes in the plans will have to be made to conform with the zoning laws before erection of the building is commenced. It is not expected that this will considerably delay the start of the structure and that the foundations will be laid within a short time.

The preliminary plans show a flat roof building of three stories with a basement containing twelve modern suites, of three and four rooms each. They will be equipped with the latest in electric lighting and refrigeration and will have other modern accessories.

Work at the Outer Wharves, recommended by the committee, was progressing satisfactorily, Capt. Troup reported.

With regard to pilotage, Capt. G. E. L. Robertson, director of pilotage, had come to the coast and seemed to have been successful in rearranging the pilotage system (he said). Although the chamber committee had not seen eye to eye with Capt. Robertson, questions affecting the port had been thoroughly discussed.

One point on which Capt. Troup felt continued action should be taken was that of classing Equimault and Victoria as one port, preventing the imposition of dues for moving ships from one place to the other.

The Chamber had been asked to endorse the proposal of the Sidney Board of Trade for a breakwater at Sidney, said Capt. Troup. This matter had been investigated and it was found the approximate cost would be about $300,000 and it was felt further data should be secured in the project before it was backed by the Chamber.

think over her problem, and there the gift came right to her. She would make her mother a floral piece such as she had seen in florists' shops in Boston, before they moved to the country. With sticks she made a cross, and then she decorated it with fine, feathery moss, cones, and a few flowers. It was really lovely, but she was not quite satisfied.

She walked back to the house, carrying her gift, and on the way the idea of the second gift came to her. She would write her mother a poem. As soon as she reached home she found pencil and paper and set to work.

When she presented her mother with the cross and the poem, her mother said they were the nicest gifts she had ever received, because they were part of Louise's very self.

CONTRACTOR
OF INTERIOR
BUILDS HERE

L. H. Rawlings of Nakusp
Building Home on Shelbourne Street Acreage

L. H. Rawlings, well-known contractor of Nakusp, B.C., is at the Dominion Hotel to-day, having come from the interior to attend the Shrine convention here.

Mr. Rawlings has been in the contracting business for thirty-two years and in recent years has handled a large number of Government road contracts in the Province.

He is now completing the Silverton diversion, a section of four and three-quarter miles of road way in the Kootenay country, and a contract running to over $100,000.

He is also at present engaged on rockwork at "Red Bluff" on the Silverton-New Denver highway.

Mr. Rawlings is now dismantling the old Canadian Pacific hotel at Balfour, which, since the war, was used as a sanitarium for veterans.

The Nakusp contractor stated to-day that he planned to come to Victoria to reside next year. He is building a residence on Shelbourne Street, where he owns six acres adjacent to the provincial experimental seed farm, and will shortly bring his family here from the interior.

ANGLICANS HOLD COLD STORAGE
DAY OF PRAYER HEAD LINES
OPPORTUNITIES

St. Andrew's Day will be observed in Anglican churches in the city and Island to-morrow as a "Day of Prayer" on behalf of the church's work in all parts of the world.

The custom, which is adopted by the Anglican Church in many lands, owes its origin to the huge impost in the money work created by the members of Bishop Pattison, by natives of the South Sea Islands, on September 25, 1871, as a reprisal for the stealing of five natives for forced labor elsewhere.

The Bishop of Columbia has issued a letter, suggesting that all parish churches in the diocese be heated during the day, and that people be encouraged to make use of the church buildings for quiet thought and prayer. In a number of parishes, observance of the day will begin with a celebration of Holy Communion. Leaflets and other aids to devotion will be distributed for that purpose.

At Christ Church Cathedral, the morning services will take place in the Memorial Hall chapel. Celebrations of Holy Communion will be held at 2 and 10.30, and morning prayer conducted at 9.30 o'clock.

At 5.15 o'clock to-morrow, the first week-night service of church evening will be held in the north side chapel of the same cathedral. The dean will give a short address.

The day has been added to the list of local church people, in that it is also the thirtieth anniversary of the consecration of the bishop of the diocese.

De-treated these products were hard to detect from the green produce, he said.

"I have only touched upon the matter lightly," the letter said, "but might say that I have been working practically alone, without any co-operation, and I would like to have your advice and co-operation in approaching the Agricultural Department of the Provincial Government to see if we could not work together and point out the many advantages existing on this Island and the resources that are absolutely undeveloped."

The letter was received and filed and no action taken.

IMMIGRATION
CONTROL CHANGE
NOW SUGGESTED

London, Ont., Nov. 29.—"At the next session of the House of Commons I am going to introduce a resolution for abolition of the Department of Immigration," declared James S. Woodsworth, Labor member of Parliament for the North Centre Division of Winnipeg, who addressed a meeting of the London Labor Party last night.

"I am going to advocate the Immigration Department," he administered by the Department of Labor. Our immigration policies should be guided by the condition of the labor market. This, I believe, would be a great help to immigration."

Mr. Woodsworth is on a tour of eastern Canada, arranged under the auspices of the Association of Canadian Clubs. He addressed the London Canadian Club at luncheon yesterday.

Co-operation of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in approaching the Agricultural Department of the Provincial Government with regard to promoting development in connection with the work of the company, is sought by the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company.

In a letter read before the board of directors to-day from H. G. Brown, the president, several fields of work undertaken by the cold storage company were outlined.

Possibilities of freezing green beans and peas, poultry and berries were discussed by Mr. Brown. Large orders had followed a trial of frozen poultry, he said, but the company was unable to fill it through lack of chickens from the interior.

De-treated these products were hard to detect from the green produce, he said.

"I have only touched upon the matter lightly," the letter said, "but might say that I have been working practically alone, without any co-operation, and I would like to have your advice and co-operation in approaching the Agricultural Department of the Provincial Government to see if we could not work together and point out the many advantages existing on this Island and the resources that are absolutely undeveloped."

The letter was received and filed and no action taken.

Old Scholars To Recall Memories
Of School Days

On Friday evening, December 6, the ex-pupils of South Park School, and their friends, will make merry with a dance and whist drive, which is being sponsored by the James E. Bay Parent-Teacher Association. This will be a splendid opportunity for old-timers to talk over past and recall memories of school days. The big auditorium of the South Park School will be made ready for dancing, and ample accommodation will be prepared for a large number of card players. Good music and refreshments will be provided.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Misses Gladys and Phyllis Matthews have left for Moose Jaw, Sask., and will be followed early next month by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Matthews.

Miss May Goff entertained with three tables of bridge last evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. C. Strang, on Updale, in honor of Miss Mary Thomas of England, who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Tyrell Drake, and of Mrs. A. L. Harvey, of Montreal. The guests included Mrs. Spidley, Mrs. Mrs. Colin Donald, Miss Dorothy Merrick, Miss Inez Ker, Miss Ruth Jones, Miss Helen Streetfield, Miss Helen Wilson, Miss Norma Macdonald, Miss Marjorie Gairling and Miss Marjorie Oates.

With six candidates in the field for three Victoria seats, campaigns for the Tuxis Old Boys' Parliamentary elections on December 7, promise to be exceptionally lively.

Those seeking the seats are Ross Jauncey, Gordon Fields, Jack Merritt, F. Holdridge, Colborne Latrell and Gentle Cave-Brown-Cave.

Nominations are being closed and the candidates are preparing to announce their platforms at the election gathering next Friday night. At this meeting all groups of the Tuxis orders are requested to be present to hear the different candidates in order that they may vote more intelligently when they go to the polls in the Y.M.C.A. the following evening from 6 to 9 o'clock.

Frank Fiddler, secretary of the Boys' Work and Religious Education Councils, will attend the meeting, as will Irvine Dawson, premier for the coming year. Following the polling on Saturday the local Boys' Work Council will meet in the association rooms.

Royal—Sir John Martin Harvey in "The Only Way."
Crystal Garden—Swimming and Dancing.

Martin Harvey, appeared again in Victoria last night as Sir John and his company opened their farewell performance of "The Only Way" at the Royal Theatre.

Interpreted as only Martin Harvey could, this new-as-well character of Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities," pathetic and yet lovable, befuddled by wine yet a genius who might have been, has always held a special place in the hearts of Victoria audiences. It is deeply to be regretted that Sir John has decided to end Sidney Carton, as there is unlikely to be anyone in this generation who will revive the role to the satisfaction of those who have seen the greatest of Sidney Cartons.

WILL NEVER GROW OLD
"The Only Way" brings out a tale which never grows old. It is one in which varying emotions of mankind reach their highest pitch, are shown fighting—involved in the web of destiny, and yet are fixed in the mind as beautiful and appealing. Love, hate, passion and friendship are interwoven in a fashion which prepares one for the crowning sacrifice as Carton gives his own life for the betrothed of the woman he adores.

The immortal lines, spoken on the guillotine in a tableau which is glorious as it is tragic, cannot fail to leave a tender and sympathetic feeling.
"It is a far, far better thing that I do than I have ever done. It is a far, far better rest that I go to than I have ever known."

GREAT APPLAUSE
Sir John's performance last night brought continuous applause, and he answered many curtain calls before finally being prevailed upon to speak.
The remainder of the company play their roles with admirable artistry. Miss N. de Silva (Lady Martin Harvey), in her original role of Miss Travers, maintains well the part of Lucie Manette, his sweetheart. Her soulful appeal, bearing a torn and aching heart, when her lover is condemned to die, was particularly effective.

Eugene Wellesley appears at home in the role of Dr. Manette, the pathetic figure of fifteen years' experience in the battle. Kindly face, wreathed with smiles in the happiness of his daughter, seems at all times to bear the shadow of that horrible time.

DRAMATIC SCENE
Aside from the many touching scenes between the principals, the tragedy of Charles Darnay in the tribunal brings out a wonderful effect of dramatic suspense, with the revolutionary background in relief. Sir John's Sidney Carton, radiating his own personality as well as that which he puts into the character, cannot fail to impress in all his grandeur and tragedy.

"The Only Way" will be shown at the Royal to-night and to-morrow afternoon and evening.

MYSTERY HORSE FORMS CENTRE OF THRILLING PLOT

He was a horse of mystery—wild, hard of desert mustangs. By night he wrought vengeance on men for the cruelties of the brand and incarceration. He opened corals and liberated the enslaved horses he trampled fields of grain and destroyed their fruitfulness; he fought mankind with the mute truculence of a mistreated animal and was victorious. Then we encountered a different sort of man—a man who used neither whip nor choking lariat. Come to the Columbia Theatre, today and see what happened then. "Just Tony" adapted from the novel "Alcatraz" by Max Brand, and produced by William Heughan, is a picture you must not miss.

LLOYD, AS YOUNG BOTANIST, TURNS TO TONG WARFARE

Harold Lloyd has long been known as the "family comedian" because his humor and situations are so clean that the entire family can understand and laugh at them. His latest picture "Welcome Danger," in which he returns to the screen after an absence of over a year and a half is no exception. In "Welcome Danger" Harold is a young botanist whose chief aim in life is to perfect a new species of the wild cactus, and he pursues his hopes with a head in things and sends him from Boston to San Francisco to clean up a long war and raid the underground Chinatown.

"Welcome Danger" is the feature picture at the Dominion Theatre, all this week.

TENDERNESS OF JEWISH FAMILY LIFE IS SHOWN

The richly humorous tenderness of Jewish family life is delightfully revealed in the christening scene in "George Washington Cohen," in which Tiffany-Sahl is presenting George Jessel at the Playhouse Theatre. The ceremony takes place when the baby is eight days old, and needless to say, George Jessel was represented by a double, as even this justly celebrated actor could scarcely be expected to appear plausibly as a week-old infant. Even at this early age, however, the junior Cohen exhibits the same ability to hold the centre of the stage, be it for his good or ill fortune. The dispute of the relatives over what name he should be given is side-splitting and the senior Cohen's diplomatic solution brings another laugh.

BIGGEST PICTURE OF YEAR SHOWING AT THE CAPITOL

"Broadway," the Universal super-production now playing at the Capitol Theatre, has vindicated by its great drama and magnificent spectacle effects the judgment of Carl Laemmle, president of Universal pictures, in entrusting the biggest photoplay of the year to two of the youngest men in their respective positions in the motion picture world—Carl Laemmle, Jr., the producer, and Dr. Paul Fejos, the director. "Broadway," everywhere hailed as a cinema triumph, features Glen Tyron, Evelyn Brent and Merna Kennedy at the head of a cast which includes such players as Thomas Jackson, Robert Ellis, Paul Porcasi, Olie Harlan, Marion Lord, George Davis and many others.

PLAYERS APPEAR IN "SPEAKEASY"

The entire cast appearing in the major roles of "Speakeasy," Fox Movie-tone production of New York night life now showing at the Coliseum, has left the inspiring effect of an audience's applause. Lola Lane and Paul Page, romantic leads, were taken from successful New York productions to portray their roles and Henry B. Walthall, Sharon Lynn, Helen Ware, Stuart Erwin, Warren Hymer and others are well known on the speaking stage. Benjamin Stoloff directed the production and Edwin Burke, well-known writer of sketches, adapted the story from Edward Knoblock and George Rosner's play.

"SLIP OF NAVY" IS PRODUCTION OF WILLIS COMPANY

Something new in musical comedies will be offered by Harry C. Willis, who opens at the Playhouse Theatre next Monday, with the production, "A Slip of the Navy." Mr. Willis, who will be the leading comedian, is also a ventriloquist and will offer musical novelties never before heard in Victoria. Willis will appear in conjunction with the regular feature picture.

SEAT SALE AT ROYAL STARTS

Box Office Opens To-day For Stratford-upon-Avon Productions

The sale of seats for the engagement next week of the Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company begins today at the box office of the Royal Victoria Theatre. The large number of mail orders already received indicates that the coming engagement will surpass in prosperity that of last season, when, at the end of the week the houses were completely sold out. The engagement this year will open with one of the most pleasing and popular of the plays in the company's repertory for this season, namely, "Much Ado About Nothing," which was chosen as the Birthday Play at Stratford last spring. It will not be repeated during the engagement here, as it is the custom of the organization to offer a different play at every performance during a week. Owing to bookings in the United States, the only opportunities that Victoria playgoers will have this season to see the famous company from the town of Shakespeare's birth, will be during the one week beginning next Monday. The repertory arranged for the week is as follows: Monday evening, December 2, "Much Ado About Nothing"; Tuesday evening, December 3, "Romeo and Juliet"; Wednesday matinee, December 4, "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; Wednesday evening, December 4, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Thursday evening, December 5, "Hamlet"; Friday evening, December 6, "Twelfth Night"; Saturday matinee, December 7, "Macbeth"; Saturday evening, "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

CELLIST WILL APPEAR HERE

Miss Maude Bell, Associate Artist With William Heughan, Coming

Miss Maude Bell, the distinguished English cellist, who is associate artist with William Heughan on his world tour, is famed in many countries, even outside the English-speaking world. She has played with success in many of the leading cities of Germany, France, Italy, Norway and Denmark. In each, the critics have written about the beauty and power of her playing

NINE, AND IN MOVIE

She is only nine years old, but she has signed a real contract to appear in a movie production. Little Miss Green of Los Angeles is pictured above as she affixed her signature to the document under the auspices of a court, and, as a result, she is the youngest person ever to sign a movie contract.

and her art. She appeared with marked success in London and principal cities of the British Isles. According to The Times (London): "She shows great interpretative gifts, good tone and fluent style." That opinion is echoed in the press wherever she has appeared. Miss Bell studied in Berlin under the famous Belgian cellist, Marie Loevenstam (now professor at Amsterdam), and at the Brussels Conservatoire. She is the proud possessor of a remarkably fine "Gagliano" cello (1745), from which she is never separated. It has been sometimes said "Gagli" needs as much care as a new born babe, and she certainly gets it. It was only such wonderful care that enabled her to take it through Malaysia and Borneo successfully. She is naturally very proud of this, because almost all violinists and cellists to visit the tropics find their instruments become unstruck, with the moist heat. The Heughan concert will be held at the Shrine Auditorium on December 7, 9 and 10. Fletcher Bros. are handling the seat sale.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, Nov. 29.—Wheat: Sentiment in wheat continued decidedly bullish again today, and prices were forced into new high ground on the movement. The strength in Liverpool started the fireworks, that market being much higher than here, while private news from Argentina continued extremely unfavorable with estimates of crop yields being cut down, the most pessimistic being that Argentina would not have 70,000,000 bushels for export.

Outside of a little buying early by New York interests, the buying appeared to be practically all local, through commission houses, while bulls in the pit were taking on more wheat.

About the only export business that could be located here was a cargo to Norway via the Pacific Coast. At the same time New York reported that about two million bushels had been worked the past two days, Manitoba and hard winters.

There was very little doing in the cash market and buyers were not inclined to follow the sharp advance in the futures, and while offerings were not heavy the spreads on the various grades were somewhat easier.

Millers reported four demands very slow, both domestic and export. There was considerable profit-taking by long on the scale up and some unwinding of spreads between here and Chicago. Some selling against daily offers eased the market off three-quarters cents.

Coarse Grains.—These markets were all higher and followed the trend of wheat but trade was very small, and outside of a little speculative buying in barley there was nothing doing.

Flax.—Continued strong. However, there was very little doing. Crushers showed a very little interest.

The Ayenging Parrot

© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

By Anne Austin, Author of "The Black Parrot" and "The White Parrot"

"Cor, thought maybe I ought to have made a big buck walking hand in hand up the hill into the setting sun, with apple blossoms drifting down about them," Magnus worried. "What do you think? Seems to me like that's been done before."

"I think your own conclusion is fine," Dundee assured him meekly. "Oh, sorry!" he exclaimed, as his elbow knocked a book off the edge of the desk. "Magnus said I ought to be a writer. He said I ought to be a writer. He said I ought to be a writer."

"You've been working at this game quite a while, I see," he remarked, hoping that the pity he felt did not show in his voice.

"Off and on. I subscribed for this course in 1924, but I've just lately got down to serious work. You see, I want to make some quick money, so I shan't be too ashamed to go home with me. I'll take someone else's name. There usually comes a stage attached to a woman if she's held as a material witness in a murder trial, or do you know, Dundee?"

"I wouldn't worry about that," Dundee reassured him, extending a hand which the other gripped awkwardly with his left. "Cor, needs to stand by her now, and if you feel that way about her—"

"I'll stand by, no matter what they say she did," Magnus said earnestly, his gray eyes blinking rapidly behind his glasses.

"Poor devil!" Dundee groaned to himself as he made his escape. "This is the worst of the business. I've elected. I'll be seeing innocent lives wrecked all the time—the flotsam and jetsam that washes ashore after every murder trial. . . . But he's going to have his girl and Cora's going to get off with as clean a conscience as possible, or my name's not Bonnie Dundee."

"This resolve buoyed him up temporarily, but the new detective found it hard to wait with any degree of patience for the next scene in the drama. He had ideas of his own about searching every boarder's room for a possible clue, but he could do nothing on Sunday. With his fellow-guests at work on Monday, and with Mrs. Rhodes's confinement, he would have a free hand. Monday, too, would bring the postman, and he in turn should bring old Mrs. Hogarth's regular monthly letter from 'S'."

Sunday evening Dundee strolled down to police headquarters, endured a good deal of affectionate kidding from his uncle, Police Commissioner O'Brien, learned that nothing had developed, and that Bevier was still most emphatically missing. Dundee was discouraged. If he was right about the importance of the "bad penny" clue, then why was Emma Serier a fugitive from justice? Fortunately the first mail delivery was not until half-past nine on Monday, and Dundee was the only boarder who was watching for its arrival, as the stooped, gray little man plodded up the Rhodes House walk.

CHAPTER XXIV

"Good morning, ah," Dundee greeted the little old postman deferentially. "You've probably heard that Mrs. Emma Serier is dead. I'm a detective," and he showed a badge which Strawn had brought him on Sunday, to be used in emergency. "I understand that you have been delivering a registered letter to Mrs. Hogarth on or about the first of the month for the past five years."

"That's right," the postman nodded. "And I was saying to myself just as I come up the walk that this is the first time that letter ain't come, regular as the calendar itself."

"What?" Dundee ejaculated. "You're sure the letter didn't arrive? I'm afraid this is serious."

"No, sir. It ain't here. You can see for yourself," the postman insisted. "First time—no, it ain't the first time either. I recollect now that one month it didn't come till the third, and the old lady was in an awful stew over it. But it did show up finally, and I reckon it will this time."

"Probably, but the letter is important," Dundee interrupted. "Mrs. Hogarth's correspondent is undoubtedly a close relative, and we sorely need the name, in order to notify her of what has happened here."

"Well, if that's all that's worryin' you," the postman brightened, "I can help you out, my boy. Fact is, I know that lady's name as well as my own. Reckon I ought to, after five years."

"What is it?" Dundee was sorry to be so impatient, but the old man might ramble indefinitely.

"Name of Graves—Miss Sally Graves," the postman replied deliberately. "Address—No. 534 St. New York City."

"Graves?" Dundee repeated. "Sally Graves? That name sounds familiar."

"It's a common sort of name," the postman told him mildly. "A funny thing—the poor old lady never got letters from anybody else and never wrote to anybody but to this Miss Sally Graves. Always put her letters to Miss Graves in an envelope addressed to me, and I had to take 'em out and mail 'em for herself myself. A queer character, that poor Mrs. Hogarth."

"Yes," Dundee agreed absently, his brow knotted with an effort to remember why that name rang a bell in his memory.

"Yes, sir. A funny character," the postman went on with almost ghoulish relish. "I've seen many a funny thing in my time—husbands and wives gettin' secret letters and using false names at the general delivery, but in all my experience I never did know of a woman being afraid for it to get out that she was writin' to another woman. . . . Well, sir, I'll be moving on. I'm late to take this mail into the house for me, young fellow? Save these old legs o' mine a few steps. And don't you worry. That letter'll come along on the next delivery, more'n likely."

"No!" Dundee almost shouted. "No, it will never come!"

And pausing only to snatch the bundle of Rhodes House mail from the astonished postman's hand, Dundee plunged up the steps and into the hall. As he tossed the mail to the hall table and reached for the phone he was half-sobbing under his breath: "My God! My God! Into the lake this mail! Into the house for me, young fellow? Save these old legs o' mine a few steps. And don't you worry. That letter'll come along on the next delivery, more'n likely."

"Dundee speaking. Put Lieutenant Strawn on the wire, please," he panted. "Hello, boy. What's up? Have you caught the murderer? The welcome voice of his chief came bawlingly into the excited new detective.

"Listen, chief: I've got to see you right away. Wait for me there, won't you? Something big's broken! Something that puts an entirely new light on the whole terrible business!"

Ten minutes later, a breathless hatless man catapulted into Lieutenant Strawn's small office of police headquarters.

"What's up, Bonnie? Take a easy, boy, or you'll be passing out with the heat," Strawn urged, as he rose and swung up a chair for his subordinate. "S. is dead! Murdered!" Dundee panted.

"Who the devil is S.?" Strawn pummed. "Oh, yes, that dame in the old lady's diary. Now, do you know she's dead? Nothing in the diary about it—"

"Remember I told you I was going to watch for the postman and get the regular first-of-the-month letter from S.?" Dundee tried to get control of himself. "Well, it didn't come, but the postman was able to tell me who S. is—or was! Sally Graves! Sally Graves, of New York City!"

"Graves?" Strawn pummed. "Does sound familiar."

"Such is fame, even when you get murdered," Dundee cut in brutally. "Sally Graves was murdered while I was in New York. Let me think—it was—yes, it was on June 2. A Sunday. I remember, because my boat from England docked on Saturday and one of the first things I read in a New York newspaper was the mysterious murder of an equally mysterious young woman—Sally Graves, living in an old brownstone house on West 34th St. She was—"

"Have they caught her murderer?" Strawn asked, almost as excited as Dundee. "I remember it dimly now, but didn't keep up with it—"

"No, unless they caught him since I arrived in Hamilton," Dundee assured him eagerly. "But let me tell you all about it, as I remember it from the newspaper accounts."

"Sally Graves was the best milliner in a smart West 57th St. hat shop. Had been with the shop for three years, coming to them from the millinery department of a big store. I remember that the papers commented on the fact that she had been extremely reticent about her past; in fact, none of her business associates knew the slightest thing about her, except that she was an excellent designer and apparently had no friends outside the shop."

"How was she murdered?" Strawn interrupted impatiently. "Strangled, I suppose—just to make it more hair-raising."

"No," Dundee retorted reluctantly, but with a grin at his own expense. "Her head was bashed in with a heavy desk lamp, but there were no fingerprints on it—just blood and hair. And there were no fingerprints on anything, except the dead woman's, although the murderer had ransacked her room and kitchen and apartment. She had the rear half of the second floor in one of those old brownstone fronts, converted into light-house-keeping apartments. The police found fresh ashes in the grate, indicating that the murderer had burned all of Sally Graves's papers, for none were found—not even a letter or an advertising circular."

"Any clues as to the murderer?" Strawn demanded.

"Practically none at all. The tenant of the front apartment on the second floor told police that he heard the faint ringing of a doorbell in the rear apartment about 8.30 that Sunday morning. The medical examiner placed the time of death between 8 and 9 of that morning. The tenant told of hearing a man's voice call out, 'Special delivery for Miss Graves,' but paid no attention. Did not even open his door to look out; no reason why he should spy on his neighbor, of course."

"When he went out for breakfast about 10 minutes later," he says, "he heard and saw it. As a matter of fact, the murderer could not have picked a better time to enter and escape unobserved. New York is still asleep at 9 o'clock on Sunday. The Graves girl—police placed her age at 28—was dressed in nightgown and kimono. Evidently she had risen from bed to answer the doorbell, rung by the fake special delivery postman. Post office records showed no such letter had been received for her."

"Who discovered the crime?" Strawn asked.

"Miss Graves's first assistant designer at the hat shop," he said. "Sally had asked her friend—using the word in a loose sense, since she did not make a real friend of anyone, apparently—to have Sunday breakfast with her at 11 o'clock. The two girls were going to make new summer hats for themselves—a sort of business's holiday—and the young assistant brought some of the materials with her. When she could not locate Miss Graves she became alarmed, and asked the janitor to open the door with his passkey. The last I read of the case the poor thing was still lying in the morgue, waiting to be claimed by some close friend or relative. And the police were no nearer a solution than they had been one hour after the discovery of the body."

Labor Majority On Vote in British House Is Seventy

London, Nov. 29.—Liberals and Conservatives voted together in the House of Commons yesterday for the first time since the session opened, but the Labor Government, headed by Premier MacDonald, emerged with a majority of seventy votes. The vote was 237 against an amendment moved by Mr. Chamberlain, which would have reduced the number of members of the House of Commons from 413 to 300.

TORONTO WANTS ALBERTA COAL

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Mayor Samuel McBratney yesterday wired Premier King and Hon. H. A. McKee, chairman of the Federal Railway Board, asking an advance in the special freight rate on Alberta coal from January 15 to December 1.

The mayor said he understood the railway companies had idle equipment to handle the coal at an earlier date, and that Toronto could use many thousands of tons of the coal during the winter months if the freight rate agreement authorized by the Railway Board was made operative at once.

Most of Us Get More Real Pleasure Out of the Latter Part of Our Lives Than We Did Out of the Beginning—It Takes Time to Enable Us to Get the Full Flavor Out of Any Pleasure

MY GRANDCHILDREN," said an elderly woman to me the other day, "pity me because I am old and my life is almost done, and I pity them because they are so young and have so long to live, so many hardships to struggle through, so many anxieties and heart-breaks to bear. We are like the people in Barrie's play, who said: 'Poor soul!' compassionately to each other."

"Often my grandchildren drop in to say goodnight to me as they are rushing madly from one place of amusement to another—long drives—to faraway road-houses—halls where they will hop about for hours to the discord of blaring jazz bands—restaurants where they will eat heavily cooked food in an atmosphere of stale cigarette smoke—noise, tumult, crowds, whipping themselves up into a state of feverish excitement—that is what they are going to. But as they turn away I can see how sorry they are for me to have to spend a dull evening in my quiet room, with no diversion except my books, and perhaps an old friend who will drop in."

"And as they depart I overflow with sympathy for them, thinking how bored I would be if I had to spend an evening as they are going to spend feet ache and I am ready to drop with weariness nor have my ears assailed by monopoly on pleasure and that it is only the strenuous things that they can handle and saxophones and clarinets and that I don't have to either drink synthetic gin or listen to the maudlin conversation of those who have."

"My granddaughters, who are young and pretty and popular, almost weep over me as they think how sad it is for a woman to be so old she is done with romance, when she knows that there is no fair prince waiting for her around the corner, when no man even turns his head to look at her as she passes by, when she has no dates, no kisses, not a thrill left to her."

"And as I look at the pretty young things I could shed tears over them, knowing the anxiety they go through wondering if the men they fancy are going to fancy them, thinking of their rosy dreams that will be torn to tatters, of the disillusionments that will come to them, of the heartache and heartbreak that they are bound to know. And I smile to myself as I reflect that no woman ever knows any real peace and happiness until she gets to the place in life where her happiness does not depend upon men and where she has learned either to accept her husband with philosophy or else has come to care so little for him that she doesn't care what he does."

"Of course, it is natural for the young to think that they have a monopoly on pleasure and that it is only the strenuous things that they like to do that have any enjoyment in them. But I marvel that older people should coincide in this false view of life."

"That older people do believe in this fallacy that youth is the only joy-time of life is abundantly proved by the desperation with which they cling to every shred of youth and by the way they imitate all the sports and amusements of youth. Everywhere you go you behold the pitiful spectacle of world-worn, care-burdened old men and women trying to act like carefree boys and girls. Everywhere you can hear rheumatic old bones creaking in the dance."

"Everywhere you can see hay-windowed old grandpas pursuing flappers and painted-up old women cooing and smirking and smiling and trying to flirt and make themselves fascinating to men as they did fifty years before, and they are doing it because they are trying to keep young, because they think it is only possible to get a kick out of life when you are young."

"They are so completely imbued with this superstition that they have never stopped to realize that our interest in life and our enjoyment of things is not chronological. It doesn't automatically cease when we are forty or fifty or sixty or even seventy. It merely changes, and in all good truth most of us get more real enjoyment out of the latter part of our lives than we did out of the beginning. It takes time and education and experience, years of living, to enable us to get the full flavor out of any pleasure."

"Life is like a banquet. The young gobble it down, content if it satisfies their hunger. It is all one to them whether it is caviar or corned beef. We older ones feast delicately, savoring every flavor, appreciating the subtlety of every sauce, the vintage of every wine, and we get pleasure out of a perfectly balanced meal that no youngster can know. And that is life."

"One time I went around the world in the company of three charming young people. At first I was madly envious of them. I thought how wonderful it was to see strange countries and historic places and queer people and customs when one was young and to have one's life so enriched at its very beginning with all this knowledge that would make the places and people that one read about not just mere names, but that would enable one to visualize the very scene where some pageant or catastrophe had occurred or some romance was laid."

"But I had not been long with my young people before I realized that I was getting a hundred times more out of the trip than they were. They were too young. They hadn't read enough. They didn't know enough. They hadn't enough background to appreciate what they were seeing. A city or a river or a mountain was simply a city or a river or a mountain to them, and nothing more. To me it was history, it was tradition, it was romance, it had a thousand associations to me that made it interesting, that they lacked."

"My grandchildren are well educated and we read the same books, but because I have read so much more than they have, and because I have run the gamut of life myself and have known love and birth and death and joy and sorrow, I get something out of a book that they miss."

"And so there we are. Each age has its own pleasures and I mourn that so many of my age have not intelligence enough to know that instead of trying to steal the pleasures that do not belong to them."

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By SISTER MARY

Too few housekeepers realize the advantages of combining vegetables. Cheap vegetables can be used as a "stretch" for expensive ones. Popular ones combined with unpopular ones aid in making a welcome and palatable dish. Small amounts can be combined to make enough for a meal and prevent waste. Strong, spicy and highly flavored vegetables are much less pronounced in taste if combined with mild-flavored vegetables.

"Scalloped" vegetable dishes, vegetable chowders, au gratin combinations and combinations in cream sauce are particularly appealing. Careful selection of vegetables often makes it possible to add color to otherwise colorless dishes. Cauliflower served in a tomato sauce or a border of creamed carrots is attractive. Carrots add color to creamed celery.

Beets offer many possibilities. Boiled and scooped out to form cups, or boiled and sliced, they blend pleasantly with turnips, celery cauliflower, spinach, kale, creamed peas, beans or any vegetable which is green or white. Combinations of fresh and dried vegetables are appetizing and nourishing. Carrots and dried lima beans are a delicious combination. Dried beans, celery and onions is another savory mixture worth using. The combinations are innumerable; each one suggests another. They add variety and change to the diet in a wholesome and economical manner.

CELERY AND CARROTS IN PARSLEY SAUCE

Two large heads of celery, 4 medium sized carrots, 2 tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper.

Save tender hearts of celery for use in another meal. Wash and dice remaining stalks. Scrape and dice carrots. Combine and cook in a little water as possible until tender, about twenty-five minutes. Let water cook away, watching closely to prevent burning. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper and minced parsley. Bring to the boiling point and add vegetables. Reheat, if necessary, and serve.

To-morrow's Horoscope

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1929

Good and adverse planetary influences contend to-day, according to astrologers. The morning should be utilized for business and the afternoon for pleasure. Lawyers are subject to the best possible direction of the stars. Sensational litigation is indicated by the stars. The day is favorable for the business of the day.

promote much activity for corporation counsel. It is an auspicious day for merchants of every class to push trade and to prepare for a busy month. There is promise of success for all who assume large business responsibilities in the course of developing an well-timed enterprise. All the signs seem to promise profit through elastic projects that circle the globe. The stars prophesy such miracles of achievement that history is forced to write a new chapter of human possibilities.

This is a very favorable day for obtaining promotion or positions for the new year. Heads of big business are supposed to be quick to recognize potential genius under this star. An adverse aspect appears to indicate trouble in some line of industry which is a very associated with shipping. This is not a lucky day for beginning ocean voyages, for delays are forecast. Storms may be severe on the seas. The evening should be a fortunate time to sign any sort of legal paper, and contracts should bring benefits.

It is a day of foremost promise for all who advertise or who use the press for publicity. Authors are to profit through the extension of publishers' enterprises. The West will compete or co-operate with the East in bringing out books of real merit. It is prognosticated. Venus next month will influence the Earth in many ways of promise, astrologers forecast, and nations will come closer together in bonds of sympathy and understanding. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a rest of good fortune. They probably will enter into larger and richer experiences.

Children born on this day may be gifted in ways rather difficult for parents to understand. The subjects of this day usually have great individuality and independence. Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain), famous American humorist, was born on this day, 1835. Others who have celebrated it as birthday include Adolphe Bousser, noted painter, 1828; Lord Cavendish, British statesman, 1826. (Copyright by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Sport Is Menace To Health If Hygienic Care Is Ignored

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN

In its survey of the hygiene of athletic training, the special committee, working under the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, emphasizes its conviction that athletics if properly conducted may be made to contribute significantly to the physical health of students. They point out that exercises in general, and athletics in particular, are not a panacea for all forms of ill health from flat feet to melancholia.

Another point of view is that athletics are in the nature of remedies to be prescribed for one person in one strength and for another in another strength and not to be prescribed at all for other persons.

The committee is convinced that adequate physical examinations and supervision of athletes are not yet available in most institutions. It is urged that in case of accident, the physician and not the trainer should go on the field to determine the nature of the injury and advisability of continuing play. There must not be participation in an excessive number of sports.

Furthermore, the physician should not be chosen because of his super-enthusiasm for athletics and his desire to win at any cost, but rather for his ability to judge in the type of injury which he is most often asked to see.

Some of the hygienic practices associated with high school and college athletics are so filthy that they would not be tolerated for a moment in any other department of life. It has been found that the same athletic clothing is worn without washing for a long period of time and in the case of track athletes, not infrequently for four years. On the football field, the common drinking cup, water bottle and sponge are used in an exceedingly unsanitary manner.

The general uncleanness of athletic clothing, locker rooms and dressing mats is largely responsible for the spread of ringworm and infections of the skin.

The most dangerous feature of all is the constant emphasis on winning at any cost. In order to correct this emphasis, there must be a change in the point of view.

The Captain took a motion picture of this scene and you will see it in the movie he is bringing back.

Santa On Last Lap Of Flight Expects To Be In Victoria To-morrow

(BY CAPT. F. E. KLEINSCHMIDT)
Special Correspondent to The Victoria Times and Head of Expedition to Home of Santa Claus

(By Wireless)

En route to Canada, "All aboard for Victoria."

"That was the remark I made this morning as we headed into our plane and prepared to take the last lap of our return trip."

The Eskimos did not want us to leave. They enjoyed having us for Santa is with us, and his visits to them are red letter days in their lives just as they are in the lives of Victoria boys and girls.

But the time came to leave, and we had to start on. We really stayed in the little village at the North tip of Hudson Bay longer than we had expected. But we had such a pleasant time in spite of the intense cold, that we could hardly get away.

We had a good takeoff with the aid some of the Eskimo men who helped turn the plane into the wind, and after circling the village twice while we gained altitude we headed south.

We have been flying over dangerous territory to-day. The ground is uneven and the ice peaks are rough and jagged. It isn't at all an inspiring sight when you are high up in the air and have only the wings and motor of your aeroplane on which to depend. But the ship has worked so well during the entire trip that we have great confidence in it.

Santa is looking better than he has at any time since we first saw him at his home. The change seems to have done him good. Of course this kind of a trip is pretty strenuous, but it least it is a relief from the hard work that he has been doing for weeks and months in preparation for Christmas.

The old fellow, always on the lookout for something new, asked me to-day to teach him to pilot the plane. He says that it is such an easy way to travel that he feels he should know something about it. I gave him a short lesson this morning and he seemed to catch on right away. The ship has double controls, so I really wasn't taking any chance. If he had made the tiniest mistake I could have corrected it at once. That is one thing you have to watch when you are piloting an aeroplane—you can't just sit and snooze or look at the moon. There are a great many instruments to keep an eye on, the course has to be maintained and the ship has to be kept level. Of course some of these things become almost automatic after awhile. But at first you have to think about nothing but the job you have before you.

From the way Santa Claus caught on to the instructions I gave him I think he will make a very good pilot. He is a level-headed old fellow, and that helps a great deal when it comes to driving an aeroplane. For if your head is level you are pretty apt to keep the plane level.

We are looking forward with a great deal of interest to our arrival in Victoria Saturday. It is impossible to tell at this distance, of course, just when we will arrive, but we will have Santa there in time for the big celebration. Mrs. E. is at the controls as I am sending this story. We are speeding

OWNERSHIP OF ANTARCTIC LANDS DEBATED

U.S. Sends Reply to Year-old Note From Great Britain

Washington, Nov. 29.—Commander Richard E. Byrd's aerial expedition over the frigid wastes of the Antarctic has brought up an international question which in time may require diplomatic negotiations between the London and Washington Governments.

The question is that of national title to the land in the South Polar region, much of which is claimed by Great Britain on the ground of discovery and previous exploration. For the United States is avoiding a discussion of the issue.

A little more than a year ago the British Government dispatched a note to the United States setting forth that the various governments of the British Commonwealth of Nations were watching the progress of the Byrd expedition closely because of their own interest in the territory involved.

1926 STATEMENT

A statement of British policy in the Antarctic evolved at the Imperial Conference of 1926 was evolved, which defined the areas to which the British claim title.

The note lay in the State Department files for a full year, lacking two days, and on November 15 last an answer was sent to London acknowledging its receipt and expressing regret at the tardiness of the reply. In addition the United States note said that since the British statement of policy had been transmitted solely for the information of the Washington Government, there was no need for any comment "at this time."

Thus, the consideration of the question of Antarctic territorial right was postponed.

AREAS CLAIMED

The British statement claimed title to the outlying part of Coast Land, now included in the Falkland Islands dependencies, Enderby Land, Kemp Land, Queen Mary Land, Wilkes Land, King George V. Land and Oates Land.
